President Sends Dulles To London

To Help In Disarmament Negotiations

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower Saturday directed Secretary of State Dulles to fly to London Sunday to take a hand in the long-drawn disarmament negotiations, which so far have produced no agreement.

One big purpose of the trip, it was reported, is to work out a precise "open skies" plan for Europe that the European allies would support.

The open skies plan calls for aerial inspection to check up on whether any arms reduction or control agreement is being faithfully carried out.

Officials said what Dulles learns in his face-to-face consultations may decide whether the disarmament talks should continue or recess.

Main Purpose

But they said that was not the main purpose of his trip. They said a good many reasons lay behind the dramatic move, the primary one being a need to designate proposed zones of disarmament inspection in Europe acceptable to the nations involved.

Harold E. Stassen, who continues as head of the U. S. delegation, would present whatever detailed plan evolves to the Russian delegation. The Soviets are expected then either to request a recess to study the idea or respond immediately with a counter proposal.

Others Expected

Likewise, French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau might sit in. Officials said Dulles expects to consult top flight British authorities, including Prime Minister Harold Macmillan.

Dulles In Canada

A White House announcement said Dulles, now in Canada, will leave Ottawa Sunday night, arriving in London Monday afternoon. He will stay "a few days," the announcement said.

It also said:

"The President has requested the secretary of state to go to London to join the consultations related to the work of the disarmament subcommittee.

"The President considers that the problems under consideration in London are of such importance as to require the secretary's personal review and judgment."

STRAIGHT UP—An F-105 Thunderchief climbs straight up demonstrating its tremendous power. The two "half-V's" where wings meet the fuselage are newly designed air-intake ducts that inhale air at great speeds to help the airplane fly faster than sound without "choking" the engine. Scheduled for service with the U.S. Air Force's Tactical Air Command, the Thunderchief is a single-seater, which, officials say, can carry conventional or nuclear weapons inside or outside.

CHILD ELECTROCUTED BY HAIR DRYER

Dr. Jack Raulson said the dryer touched one hand and the opposite elbow, sending a lethal shock through the child's chest.

The parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Gainford, told police the small dryer had never been used. The girl plugged it into the wall while playing alone and police theorized that because the terrazzo floor was still moist from overnight dampness, "there was a perfect ground."

Halley's Comet was the first comet whose periodicity was predicted.

Air Force Observes Fiftieth Anniversary

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force opens Sunday a weeklong celebration of its 50th anniversary with a showing of old and new in aircraft — and with two cross-country aerial competitions.

Wisconsin Voting May Test 'Modern' Republicanism

MADISON (AP)—A Wisconsin test of so — called modern Republicanism as exemplified by President Eisenhower's administration may take place in the state's primary Tuesday when voters name nominees for the seat vacated by the late Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis).

Walter J. Kohler Jr., three-time governor of Wisconsin, has, during a spirited campaign for the nomination, gone all out in his support of the administration and its policies. He has been the only candidate to do so.

As a result, if he wins the nomination in the seven—man GOP race, it could mean that Wisconsin voters like the President's program and "modern Republicanism."

Former Rep. Glenn R. Davis of Waukesha, who is considered Kohler's chief opponent, has the support of many of the "old guard" Wisconsin Republicans who never were particularly friendly to President Eisenhower. Davis has been critical in his campaign of some of the administration's policies, particularly those involving foreign aid.

Therefore, if Davis should win, it could mean that Wisconsin Republicans agree with him that some of the administration's policies need revision.

The actual anniversary of the establishment of an Army air service comes on Aug. 1. It will be observed with special exercises at the convention of the Air Force Assn., which also is sponsoring Sunday's show.

Most sensational feature of the Sunday afternoon celebration at Andrews Air Force Base, Md., 15 miles from Washington — with an expected attendance of 100,000—will be the first public flight of the Ryan X-13 Vertijet.

The stubby-winged craft dangles 30 feet above ground from a supporting cable, like a bat from a tree limb, when at rest and ready for launching. It's powerful jet engine boosts it straight upward once the pilot unhooks it from its clothes line, and lowers is gently again when it comes in for a "landing." For speed in the air, it leans over and flies like any other jet plane — at more than 350 miles an hour.

The air show also will feature the first public flight of America's newest and most powerful fighter bomber, the Republic F105.

The supersonic "Thunderchief," which is capable of delivering nuclear weapons, is in production at Farmingdale, N.Y. Distinguished by sweep-back wings and Coke-bottle design, it is powered by a 15,000-pounds-thrust Pratt & Whitney J75 engine.

The famous Air Force Thunderbird team in supersonic North American F100 Super Sabres, will give a demonstration of precision formation flying.

Eight other of the newest jet type aircraft will take part, in-

Plan Fight Against Possible Epidemic Of Oriental Flu

CHICAGO (AP) — A nation-wide preparedness program to combat a possible epidemic of Oriental flu in the United States was announced Saturday by the American Medical Assn.

Working with the U.S. Public Health Service, the AMA launched a special project to alert the nation's physicians—and the public.

The AMA acted after outbreaks of the Oriental flu in several cities, but stressed that so far there is "no immediate cause for alarm."

Dr. Harold C. Lueth of Evanston, Ill., chairman of the special flu committee, said:

"Rapid onset of the epidemic makes it mandatory to have plans prepared well in advance and to see that the 1,911 medical societies in the country are cognizant of the magnitude of the problem before the epidemic strikes."

Dr. Lueth said the AMA and the U.S. Health Service plan to carry on a cooperative public education program with the help of newspapers and radio and television stations.

"The epidemic may never strike this country," said Dr. David B. Allman of Atlantic City, AMA president, in a statement.

"But the American Medical Association is anxious to have practicing physicians mobilized and alerted in case an outbreak does occur.

The Oriental flu is reported to be caused by a new virus and has been relatively mild. It usually has been marked by a short period of fever, from three to four days, and sometimes by sore throat, aching, a dry cough and other symptoms of typical influenza.

No verified deaths from the disease have been reported in the United States, the AMA said. Several drug manufacturers are producing a vaccine to combat the strain of flu virus from the Far East.

Outbreaks of the Oriental flu have been reported at a Grinnell, Iowa, youth meeting early in July, at the campsite of the recent Boy Scout Jamboree near Valley Forge, Pa., and among Navy and civilian personnel at San Diego, Calif. Some other cities have reported cases.

At Springfield, Ill., a state health department official issued a warning to parents and Boy Scout officials to watch for flu symptoms.

At San Diego, the county health department estimated there have been 5,000 civilian cases of Asiatic flu in the past 30 days. Four deaths — reported as resulting from complications — were reported. The Navy reported 7,000 cases among Navy and Marine personnel, with no deaths.

The AMA said its flu committee plans to:

Crewman Killed In Blast Of Gasoline Barge

CLARKSVILLE, Mo., (AP) — A Mississippi crewman was killed in the explosion of an empty gasoline barge a mile below the Clarksville Lock and Dam on the Mississippi River Friday night.

The U. S. Coast Guard headquarters in St. Louis said the victim was identified by the master of the towboat Coderington as Ivan J. Bradford Jr., of Bay St. Louis, Miss. His age was not available.

"It was a terrific explosion," said Tom Beauchamp, a lockman at U. S. Lock and Dam 24 here. "It looked like a big ball of fire went 100 feet into the air."

The Coderington, owned by Canal Barge Lines of New Orleans, cut loose from the burning barge at once after the blast and was not damaged. The blazing barge and another attached to it floated downstream several miles before they lodged on a rock dike 10 miles above Winfield, Mo.

A rope fender on the gasoline barge became hot from friction, Beauchamp said, as the tow passed through the lock. The smouldering rope burst into flames after it had been tossed on top of the barge.

Bradford was trying to push the blazing rope fender into the river when the barge exploded, Beauchamp said.

Believe Hole In Side Of Plane Due To Explosive

VICTORVILLE, Calif. (AP) — Investigators theorized openly Saturday — for the first time — that some kind of explosives may have caused the blast that ripped a hole in the side of an airliner over the desert Thursday.

This official speculation came after an unexploded blasting cap—similar to the kind used to set off dynamite—was found in the shattered lavatory section at the rear of the 40-seat airliner.

It was from this section that a heavily-insured passenger, Saul F. Binstok of North Hollywood, Calif., was hurtled out into the sky 7,000 feet above the foothills of a Mojave Desert mountain range.

Ed Doyle, assistant San Bernardino County Coroner, said Saturday that an autopsy gave no immediate indication of what kind of blast threw the 62-year-old retired jeweler from the plane. But he said further laboratory tests would be conducted, with special emphasis on Binstok's left hand, which had several fingers missing.

The plane—still maneuverable after the blast-made an emergency landing at George Air Force base here early Thursday morning. The crew members and remaining 12 passengers were uninjured.

The FBI said that evidence uncovered by its agents and the Civil Aeronautics Board "indicates the possibility that a small explosion may have occurred."

"An unexploded blasting cap was found in the toilet of the plane," the FBI said.

Indiana Officers Keep Caravan Of Gypsies Moving

LAGRANGE, Ind. (AP)—Part of a caravan of Gypsies, chased out of southern Michigan and one Indiana county, found at least temporary refuge Saturday in the little community of Brighton near here.

The gypsies were allowed to remain at a trailer court, after renting space for 20 trailers, but were ordered to stay out of business establishments.

The Romany tribe is trying to assemble for a convention and another group of Gypsies has occupied rented land for two weeks at an inn near here.

Mrs. Myron Welker, wife of the Lagrange County sheriff, said her husband chased another group away from a rest camp along Rt. 9 but "couldn't do anything" about the Gypsies who had rented parking space.

"We had trouble with Gypsy bands last year and the sheriff told people if they rented land to them it was their own responsibility," Mrs. Welker said.

One caravan of 23 trailers and 100 Gypsies was passed from one group of sheriff's deputies to another in a 150-mile herding operation across southeastern Michigan Friday night. The trek started near Brown City when Lapeer County Sheriff William Porter ordered the Gypsies off a farm they had rented for a convention.

After the caravan was ushered across the state line into Indiana, it was ordered onward again by Sheriff Harry Dirrim of Steuben County and moved west into Lagrange County.

Sheriff Porter, who started the Michigan exodus, said he received complaints that chickens had disappeared from farms around the Gypsy bivouac near Brown City.

Guatemalan President Armas Assassinated

GUATEMALA (AP) — A rifle bullet fired by a palace guard drilled President Carlos Castillo Armas through the heart Friday night and he toppled dead before the eyes of his horror-stricken wife.

The assassin took his own life after mowing down the 42-year-old army colonel who three years ago booted out the nearest thing to a Communist government ever to spring up on the American continent.

The guard, who presented arms to Castillo Armas at the palace, then lowered his rifle and fired four shots, was identified as Ramero Vasquez Sanchez. An official statement said Vasquez Sanchez was a Communist.

State Of Siege

A state of siege—modified martial law — was imposed on Guatemala. Calm prevailed Saturday throughout the country, the northernmost and most populous of the Central American republics.

Luis Arturo Gonzalez Lopez, 56, vice president, took over the duties of president. He is a well known anti - Communist attorney who headed the country's first constitutent assembly in 1954-55.

Election In 4 Months

Congress announced that elections would be held in four months to choose a successor to Castillo Armas, whose term was to have expired in March 1960. Congress announced its decision after an all night session. The cabinet also met throughout the night.

Members of the Castillo Armas government were grief-stricken. In Washington President Eisenhower referred to Castillo Armas as a "personal friend of mine."

Visited Eisenhower

Castillo Armas paid a state visit to the United States in October and November of 1955. He visited Eisenhower at his hospital in Denver while the President was recovering from a heart attack.

The assassination occurred as Castillo Armas and his attractive wife, a former school teacher, were on their way to the palace dining room after attending a reception for a group of businessmen. The reception was the climax to a week of conferences on Guatemala's economic problems.

'Carlos Is Dead'

She asked that the minister of defense and congress be summoned to do "whatever is necessary."

Officials were stunned. There had been relative quiet in Guatemala in recent months following some student unrest that flared into violence in June of last year when six persons were killed.

Rumors Of Plot

There had been frequent rumors of plots against Castillo Armas, mostly directed by those driven into exile after Castillo Armas collected a ragtag army and defeated the forces of President Jacobo Arbenz Guzman in about 10 days in July 1954.

But Castillo Armas said last November—as he had done on previous occasions—that such at-

U.S. Lawyers Dedicate Magna Carta Memorial

RUNNYMEDE, England (AP) — Members of the American Bar Assn., having their annual meeting in England, will salute the Magna Carta Sunday.

The 5,000 American visitors — judges, lawyers and their wives — will gather on a pleasant meadow beside the River Thames, and dedicate a Magna Carta memorial that they built, and paid for with thousands of one and ten dollar contributions.

The memorial, which looks like a severely simple little temple—eight pillars supporting a stone and glass canopy—cost about $3,000.

It will be accepted at a ceremony by Sir Hartley Shawcross, president of the General Council of the Bar of England and Wales, on behalf of the British people, who in more than seven centuries never got around to erecting a Magna Carta memorial.

Two thousand English barons wrested Magna Carta from arrogant and truculent King John in the year 1215. Runnymede, now a field and race track near Windsor and Staines, is the spot at which the well armed barons laid down the law to the stubborn king. The involved Latin document that he grudgingly sanctioned has been hailed by many historians as the first statement and source of many human freedoms.

In later times scholars have been inclined to minimize somewhat the significance of the charter, but it is revered by legal professions of both America and Britain as a solid achievement in the struggle for liberty.

Guard Des Moines Official After Death Threat

DES MOINES, (AP)—George Forster, Des Moines city manager who received an anonymous death threat, kept a loaded pistol near his bed Friday night but no attempt on his life occurred.

Police arranged "around- the-clock" protection for Forster after Mrs. Forster received a telephone call Friday from an unidentified man who said, "Your husband will be dead by 10 oclock tonight (FRIDAY).

Despite the threat, Forster took his wife out to dinner in observance of his 52nd birthday. A detective accompanied them. They returned home at 10:30 p. m.

"My wife was more afraid of that loaded pistol accidentally going off than she was of the telephone call," Forster said.

Forster went about his normal routine at City Hall Saturday. He said he believes the call must have come from "a crackpot or some joker."

Find Charred Bodies Of Two Boys Tied Together At Wrists

BROCKTON, Mass. (AP) — The nude, charred bodies of two young brothers — roped together at the wrists — were found Saturday in a burned wooded area of a public park.

All Brockton police were ordered to duty after the bodies of Edward Paul Logan, 11, and his brother, John, 12, were discovered partly covered by unburned tree branches.

Police said one had been stabbed in the stomach. Autopsies were ordered.

The bodies were found some 18 hours after Jean L. Logan Jr. of Stoughton reported his sons missing while on a visit to a swimming pool in the park Friday. The pool is about a mile and a half from the small burned area.

Plymouth County Dist. Atty John R. Wheatley said the boys had been tied together with clothes line.

A spokesman said a set of house and car keys was found under the bodies. The owner of the keys was not known.

Logan, an engineer in Newton, notified police of the boys' disappearance when he went to the park to bring them home and was unable to find them. Their clothing, lunches and money were near the pool, which had been cleared of swimmers because of rain.

A small brush fire still was smoldering when a fireman, one of a search party, found the bodies in the middle of the burned over section. The boys' swimming trunks were missing.

During the night-long search, Logan and his wife remained in the park until advised by authorities to go home at 4 a.m.

They were notified of the finding of the bodies about six hours later.

Mrs. Logan became hysterical and was near collapse.

"I want to die," she cried.

The boys' sister, Anne, 15, also broke down. Another sister, Ruth, 17, was away at work.

The brothers were members of a Little League baseball team. John also was a boy scout.

Son Of Baronet, Once U.S. Worker, Weds Mill Girl

NEWTON STEWART, Scotland (AP)—The third son of a baronet married a Scottish mill girl Saturday. Objections of the baronet—once an American handyman — melted with ringing of the wedding bells.

Donald Dunbar, 21, walked out of church alongside his 24-year-old bride, Maria Fowler Allen, whom he wooed while on leave from the U.S. armed services in Germany.

Sir Adrian Ivor Dunbar, the 12th baronet, once worked as a handyman in Upper Fairmont, Md.

He lived with his wife and three sons in a house next to a neighborhood drug store. In 1953 came news of his Scottish inheritance—the title, the rambling manor house of Mochrum Park and 15 dairy farms.

Hundreds of millworkers and crofters from the surrounding countryside were in town for the wedding at a picturesque Peninghame parish church. Then the couple left by train for a honeymoon in Yorkshire after declining Sir Adrian's offer of a car.

Soviet Rejects U.S. Offer To Swap Radio Broadcasts

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union Saturday night in effect turned down an American proposal to exchange censor-free radio and television broadcasts under present conditions.

It said it would agree to the exchange only if the United States would agree to remove all barriers to economic, cultural and scientific exchanges between the two countries.

In a note delivered to the State Department in Washington Friday, and released in Moscow Saturday night, the Soviet government proposed a Soviet-American conference to negotiate an agreement on all such exchanges.

The note blamed the United States and particularly the immigration Department's fingerprinting requirements for the present estranged cultural relations between the two countries.

It said the Soviet Union has always stood for economic, scientific and cultural relations with all countries including the United States, "as a means to lessen international tension and strengthen mutual understanding and cooperation among peoples."

"Since the exchange of radio and television broadcasts between the Soviet Union and the United States could facilitate the achievement of these noble aims, the Soviet government is ready to study the (American) proposal on a basis of mutual equality," it said.

PARAKEET SURVIVES 24 HOUR FREEZE

Mickey spent 24 hours inside the freezer while Mrs. Eric Hartley searched everywhere else for him.

Mrs. Hartley said Mickey apparently flew into the freezer while she was putting vegetables in.

The following night, she opened it and "almost fainted when I saw him sitting on top of a box of strawberries."

"He tried to fly to me, but just fell to the floor," she said.

U.S. Cigarettes Interest Poles More Than Cargo Of Wheat

GYDNIA, Poland (AP)—An American liberty ship unloaded a cargo of wheat at this Baltic port, but chief dockside interest was in something else—American cigarettes.

The ship—the 9,000-ton Bucknell Victory—brought the wheat under the American-Polish credits agreement signed last month. Other U.S. ships are heading here with corn, cotton and other farm goods.

When two of the seamen first stepped from the ship, they were stopped by a green-hatted dock guard.

"You taking any cigarettes ashore?" the guard asked. They said yes. "Fine," said the guard, "perhaps you can spare me a pack."

On shore the Bucknell Victory's seamen found Gydnia and its twin port of Gdansk (Danzig) active and seemingly prosperous.

The streets are full of American cars, purchased by Polish seamen in Belgium for a few hundred dollars, brought here as unofficial deck cargo and sold for four times the outlay—and sometimes even more—to taxi drivers and government officials.

Gydnia, one of Europe's most modern ports, was built between the wars on a French loan. It stood at the head of the "Polish Corridor," which gave prewar Poland an outlet to the sea and which was an object of Hitler's 1939 invasion. Although port installations were destroyed by retreating Germans, the city itself was not damaged extensively.

Gdansk is a different story. The former free city was razed by advancing Russians. It was once one of Europe's sights — a town of elaborately decorated 17th and 18th century merchants' houses clustering around the cathedral and waterfront.

Now the Communists, with regard for the past and disregard for economy, are reconstructing it in every detail.

Dismiss Assault, Battery Charges Against Egan

AURORA, Ill. (AP) — An assault and battery charge against Aurora's headline - making mayor, Paul Egan, was dismissed today on recommendation of the state's attorney's office.

Egan and his two Chicago attorneys weren't pleased about it. John O. C. Fitzgerald, one of the attorneys, called the decision of Justice of the Peace John A. Krause to drop the charge "an outrage and one of the worst things I've ever seen done."

Egan had his comment too. "This proves," he said, "that they are afraid to have any publicity. They're afraid to show what is going on in this town, the state and the United States—the wormy, dirty rats."

City Commissioner W. B. Robertson, who filed the charge against Egan a week ago, said he could accept the decision "with good grace and without personal regret."

Lucille Chandler Reports On Delta Theta Tau Conclave

During the business meeting conducted by the president, Grayce Queen, reports of the national convention held in Long Beach, California, July 10-13, were given by the delegate, Lucille Chandler and by Bernice Rutherford, who also attended the convention.

Mrs. Chandler reports that this convention was outstanding in philanthropic accomplishments. A $5000 gift was voted to the Magnetic Springs (Ohio) Polio Foundation, adding to the $27,000 given in the past three years. It gave $5,000 to the Pilot Guide Dog Foundation, their second gift of this amount.

A total of 5,064 members representing 195 chapters gave $134,195 for charity in their own communities during the past year. An increase of 11% over last year. They also contributed 23,883 volunteer hours. Delta Nu ranked ninth in the number of volunteer hours contributed for philanthropic purposes. In many instances members of the sororities had collected money for other causes, such as cancer, polio, and the Red Cross. These collections amounted to $129,837.06.

Among the social festivities provided for the convention were an Orchid Luau Alna Awakea (Orchid Tree Luncheon) followed by a style show featuring Hawaiian Fashions from the Kai Loa Shop, and a Kaleponi Luau (California Luau) which was held on the beach at the University Club.

The 1958 convention will be held in Cincinnati, Ohio with Mrs. Oliver Joesting, past national president, in charge of arrangements.

Mrs. John Murray was elected to serve on the national nominating committee for the coming year.

Arrangements for the breakfast were in charge of Rosalie Hofmann, Marj Turley and Jane Devore.

The next meeting will be a dinner for husbands and guests to be held in August at the Virginia Country Club.

Improving Roodhouse Schools This Summer

ROODHOUSE — Extensive improvements are being made both in the grade and high school buildings in Roodhouse. Supt. Charles C. Barlow reports that sanding of floors is in progress as well as replacement of floors in the entrance hall and steps in the Jefferson building. In the Washington building, the library room has been dismantled and is to be used as one of the seventh grade home rooms, and as a class room. The assembly rooms for both junior high and high school have been converted into library assembly rooms with the complete library equipment housed in those rooms for greater convenience. New book shelves have been added in the high school assembly and the rostrum. The old type desks are to be replaced by library tables and chairs. The floor has been refinished in the high school assembly and woodwork painted to match the walls. Sixteen new windows are to replace old and damaged ones throughout the schools.

With the employing of Wayne Brauer as chemistry teacher in the high school, Supt. Barlow states the two faculties are complete. Mr. Brauer, pharmacist at Coffman's drug store, will do part time teaching. He received his A.B. degree from Millikin University, Decatur, his masters from the University of Illinois, and completed work at the St. Louis College of Pharmacy before coming to Roodhouse. He was at one time a teacher in the Decatur schools for several years.

TOO CURIOUS

EUGENE, Ore. (AP)—The curiosity of a 13-year-old boy led to his arrest on burglary charges.

The boy asked Mrs. Ross Mittby whether police had found any fingerprints on an envelope containing three small diamonds taken from her home.

Suspicious, Mrs. Mittby notified police. They asked the boy for his fingerprints to compare with those left by the burglar. The boy confessed — which made things easier for police who had found no fingerprints at the scene.

Rated Jet Pilot

PHILIP E. SMITH

Philip E. Smith, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Smith, Roodhouse, Ill., was graduated June 29, 1957, from the United States Air Force Jet Pilot Training School.

The ceremony, held at Bryan Air Force Base, Texas, marked the end of the 15 month Aviation Cadet Program. At this time the graduates received both their silver wings and commission, becoming rated jet pilots and officers with the Air Force.

Lt. Smith graduated from Roodhouse Community High School with the class of 1952. He attended the University of Illinois, graduating from their two year curriculum in the Institute of Aviation, receiving a C.A.A. Pilot's license and A&E rating.

His civilian aviation experience ended upon enlisting with the U.S. Air Force, and being accepted as an Aviation Cadet. The cadets get their first taste of military training at Pre-Flight Training School, Lackland Air Force Base, San Antonio, Texas.

Lt. Smith is spending a 25-day leave with his parents and relatives. He will report to Williams Air Force Base, Phoenix, Ariz., on August 7, where he will begin advanced jet pilot training.

There were five deaths reported during the past year: Mrs. Hattie Giller, 98, Oct. 13, 1956; Mrs. Mabel Wilson, wife of Arthur Wilson, Nov. 16, 1956; Mrs. Lizzie Piggott, Jan. 28, 1957; Howard Langdon, March 14, 1957; and Mrs. Lora Giller-Curtis, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Giller, March 3, 1957.

Many Births

Twelve births were reported and included Sally Brockman to Mr. and Mrs. William Brockman, Aug. 18, 1955; Benjamin F. Bose to Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Bose, Oct. 13, 1956; Janice Marie Gillert to Mr. and Mrs. David Giller, Oct. 13, 1956.

Martha Elaine Sinclair to Mr. and Mrs. Bertram Sinclair, April 23, 1956; Carol Ann Roodhouse to Mr. and Mrs. Bennett Roodhouse, Nov. 10, 1956.

Rebecca Ruth Kaufman, to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kaufman, April 1, 1957; Sean Hardwick to Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Hardwick, May 22, 1957.

The 1958 reunion will be held again in the Lions Park shelter house on the third Sunday in July. The original family Bible of the Swallow family was brought to the reunion by Mrs. Ella-North McLaren of Springfield, Ill. excellently preserved, the family names contained therein, in Nahaum Swallow's handwriting still being legible.

4-H Club Activities

Municipal Airport Activities

Mr. and Mrs. Loren Moody, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Merle Swain flew to Sheldon, Ill., Sunday to attend a pre-convention meeting in planning the forthcoming national Flying Farmers convention to be held in Chicago next month. The trip was made in Mr. Moody's Navion.

The two way communications system, commonly referred to by pilots as unicom, has been out of service since the tower was destroyed by the tornado some weeks ago. The new base for the tower was set this week and should be completed next week.

Two-way communications between aircraft and airport has many uses in being able to give pilots information as to wind direction, wind velocity, altimeter settings, local air traffic and runways being used. However this has not been possible in the last few weeks due to the lack of a tower and antenna.

The new antenna arrived this week and pilots will be able to communicate with the local airport. The unicom would be of particular value now that the northwest southeast runway has been closed for construction, and exacting instructions could be given to radio equipped aircraft as to the procedure to be followed in landing and takeoff.

The Jacksonville Airport Authority held a meeting at Jacksonville Municipal Airport Thursday afternoon with Chairman W. H. Kurtz presiding. Jacksonville Airport Authority members present were: Loren Moody, Marvin Schuetz and Merle Ingels. Bids were opened for the erection of the new T hangars with Hugh Gibson Building Contractor Inc., being awarded the contract.

Good weather has permitted Caldwell Engineering Co. to progress with runway construction. To date the granular sub base blanket and the dense graded aggregate base have been put into shape so that in the near future the bituminous surface cource will be laid making a 3000 foot length and 75 foot width hard surfaced runway available. This type of runway should attract many aircraft and pilots to land at Jacksonville Municipal Airport plus the fact that the new medium intensity lighting system to be installed will permit 24 hour operations.

The past week of good weather has also enabled student pilots enrolled at Byerly Airlines to get in some solo practice. Rollin Martin who is enrolled in the private pilot course flew several hours of solo practice and will start on the cross country phase of training next week.

MURRAYVILLE — Miss Charlotte Sunderland will present her piano pupils in a recital at the Methodist Church here Tuesday evening, July 30, at 8 o'clock.

The following students will participate in the recital: Wanda Crowe, Mary Gail Craig, Carla Heaton, Linda Summers, Barbara Shaw, Nancy Heaton and Darlene Wilson.

The public is cordially invited to attend.

MEGGINSON REUNION TO BE HELD HERE

The Megginson family reunion will be held at Nichols Park in the Dining Hall on Sunday, Aug. 4. Friends and relatives are invited to attend.

Top servings of smoked turkey with creamed broccoli and a generous sprinkling of grated Parmesan or Romano cheese; heat under the broiler for a golden crust. This is company fare!

Suzanne Griswold-Paul Carter Wed At White Hall

White Hall — At three o'clock the afternoon of Sunday, July twenty-first, Miss Suzanne Griswold, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph R. Griswold, and Paul Dallas Carter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul G. Carter, all of White Hall, were united in marriage.

Dr. John Henry Sanders received the vows in a double ring service before the altar of the Presbyterian church banked with baskets of summer flowers against palms and fern. Tapers burned in branched candelabra and a white cloth extended from the entrance of the church to the altar.

Accompanied by Mrs. Carl Moulton, Don Heberling sang "The Lord's Prayer," "Because" and "I Love You Truly." The traditional wedding marches were used.

Miss Ann Knight of White Hall was the bride's maid of honor. Her two bridesmaids were Miss Barbara Jones of Jacksonville and Miss Joy Jackson of Park Ridge, Illinois, her cousin.

Little Eloise Lee Guis of White Hall, another cousin, was the flower girl and Billy Jackson, of Park Ridge and also a cousin, was ring bearer.

White Tulle Gown

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a lovely gown of embroidered white tulle on satin. The low cut scoop neckline was adorned with seed pearls and iridescent sequins. The fitted bodice extended smoothly into brief cap sleeves, nearly meeting the long white formal gloves worn with the wedding gown. The elaborately embroidered very full skirt was worn over a tiered ruffled underskirt all worn over hoops and crinolines. The back of the skirt, embossed with the same embroidered motif, fell entrain.

A dainty tulle and orange blossoms doll crown worn centered atop her head held secure the bride's veil of sheer illusion. She carried a cascade bouquet of deep pink rosebuds and ivy centered with a white orchid.

The attendants wore identical floor length gowns of imported organdy. The fitted bodice of each gown was cut with a Sabrina neckline with deep decollete at the back and sleeveless. Detail at the back of the embroidered organdy frocks was a lacing that extended into a large bow with streamers down the back. The skirts were bouffant and each wore a large picture hat and short white gloves. Each carried a handmade white tulle fan trimmed with lace and sequins and rhinestones. A single orchid was attached to each fan.

The little flower girl wore pale pink organdy with puffed sleeves and a very full skirt with a large sash that tied at the back. She carried a white organdy basket with petals.

Reception at Church

A reception immediately followed the ceremony in the parlors of the church. Three tables formed a U for the serving and were covered with pastel green with pink trim and bows. The bride's table featured the triple tiered wedding cake. Appointments were in crystal and silver and guests were served from double bowls of fruit punch. Assisting at the reception were Mrs. Joe Conrad and Miss Becky Rief, Carrollton; Mrs. Robert Campbell, Champaign; Miss Royalene Coonrod, Mrs. David Glover, Mrs. C. L. Knight, Mrs. William White, Mrs. Dan Fox, Miss Linda Davis, Miss Glendan Price and Mrs. Don Evans, all of White Hall and Miss Barbara Wood of Jacksonville, Fla.

MR. AND MRS. PAUL D. CARTER

Mrs. Carter is a graduate of the White Hall High School, class of 1957, and is attending the Felt and Tarrent Comptometer School in St. Louis. Mr. Carter graduated from the same school the preceding year and attends the same school as his bride. He is employed by Swift and Company in East St. Louis, Illinois.

Special guests at the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. Robert Baggers and Dr. and Mrs. H. F. Baggers from Little Rock, Ark.; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lowenstein, Kansas City, Mo.; Mrs. C. W. Jackson, Jay and Billy, Park Ridge, Ill.; Miss Beulah Gilmore, Appleton, Wis.; George D. Mansfield, Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jones, Jacksonville.

Captain and Mrs. George D. Wood and Barbara, Jacksonville, Fla.; Mr. and Mrs. Norman Beggs, Oak Park; Mr. and Mrs. P. L. Wood, Alton and many other relatives and friends from Carrollton and Roodhouse.

Kerrihard-McGuire Rites At Carrollton

CARROLLTON—The sanctuary of St. John's Catholic church in this city was the scene of the wedding Saturday at 2 p.m. of Miss Donna Jane McGuire, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis McGuire of this city and Thomas M. Kerrihard, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Kerrihard of Highland Park.

The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Father Carl Schmidt before a pink and white archway with baskets of pink and white gladiolis on both sides of the Communion rail.

The soloist for the ceremony was William Alfeld and the selections were Ave Maria and The Lord's Prayer, Mother At Your Feet is Kneeling was sung as the bride placed a bouquet of roses at the Blessed Mother's Altar. Mrs. Lawrence Thien was the accompanist and played the wedding marches.

Escorted By Father

The bride, who was escorted to the altar by her father, wore a a gown of pure white chiffon over taffeta. The gown was fashioned on the classic line with a draped neckline ending in flowing panels. The snug bodice was highlighted with a bouffant skirt, ballerina in length which was worn over crinolines. A half jewel tiara held her hand rolled ballerina veil. She carried a bridal bouquet of cascade design formed of white roses centered with a white orchid.

The maid of honor was Miss Marjorie Reynolds of this city, who wore a chiffon gown of pale pink over pink taffeta with a wide American Beauty cummerband. Her costume was completed with a small lace hat with a tiny matching veil. She carried a colonial bouquet of white carnations centered with American Beauty rose buds and American Beauty streamers.

Attended By Brother

The best man was Dr. George N. Kerrihard M. D. of Olathe, Kan., brother of the groom. The ushers were Clarence McGuire and Pvt. Donald McGuire, brothers of the bride.

A reception was held at St. John's school hall immediately following the ceremony with a wedding dinner served at 5:30 p.m. at the Hilltop Supper Club at White Hall.

Assisting at the reception were Miss Helen Koster who was in charge of the guest book, Miss Lucy Rawe, the gift register, Miss Mary Helen Vandersand and Miss Mary Anne Koster cut and served the three tiered pink daisy wedding cake and Miss Mary Helen Osterman and Miss Janet Keller presided at the punch bowls. The pink and white color scheme was carried out through the decorations in the reception room.

Leave For Michigan

Mrs. Kerrihard is a graduate of St. John's High School and since her graduation she has been employed as secretary and county court reporter for County Judge Jack A. Alfeld.

Mr. Kerrihard is a graduate of the Highland Park, Illinois High School and also of the Illinois State Normal University. He has done graduate work at the University of Illinois and for the past two years taught Biology, General Science, Boys Physical Education and was football and track coach at the Carrollton Community Unit High School. Leaving the teaching field this year Mr. Kerrihard has accepted a position as representative for Merck, Sharp and Dohme, a pharmaceutical drug company in St. Louis and will begin his work with them Aug. 15, 1957.

MRS. LUKE V. CUCCIA

Miss Doolin And New Orleans Man Married At Church Of Our Saviour

At High Nuptial Mass at eight-thirty Saturday morning, July thirteen, Miss Evelyn Marie Doolin of this city and Luke V. Cuccia of New Orleans, Louisiana, were united in holy matrimony at the Church of Our Saviour in Jacksonville. The Reverend Father John Kennedy officiated at the double ring service before a large gathering of friends and relatives.

The organist, Mrs. Alta Eisch, during the Mass played "O Lord, I Am Not Worthy" and "Panis Angelicus," and following the rites as the bride placed red roses at the altar of the Blessed Mother, "On This Day, Oh Beautiful Mother."

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis P. Doolin, 511 East Chambers street, and Mr. Cuccia is the son of Mrs. Sarah T. Cuccia of New Orleans and the late Theo Cuccia.

Miss Marjorie Doolin attended her sister as maid of honor and Miss Frances Dorsey was bridesmaid.

The best man was Paul Doolin, brother of the bride and Raymond Crabtree served as groomsman. Ushers were Frank Cannon and Raymond Doolin.

Wears Tulle and Lace Gown

The bride wore a formal gown made entrain of imported Chantilly lace and nylon tulle over satin. The long sleeved bodice was made with sweetheart neckline and fastened down the back with small satin covered buttons. The tapering sleeves came to points over the hands. Falling full and to the floor at the front the lace on satin skirt featured a voluminous back insert of six wide tiers of tulle edged in bands of scalloped lace that fell in a half circle train. Pearls and sequins adorned the wedding gown and the bride wore a dainty cap in Chantilly embroidered with sequins and pearls that held secure her veil of sheer bridal illusion that fell to finger-tip length. She carried a cascade bouquet of white roses and wore a single strand of pearls as her only jewel accessory, her gift from the bridegroom.

The attendants were gowned identically in ballerina length gowns of white nylon organza flocked in white chenille, over pale blue taffeta. The snug fitting bodices were enhanced with wide cummerbunds of blue that fastened at the back waist with wide streamers. Each wore a blue nylon picture hat and carried a cascade arrangement of pink roses. Their slippers were in a corresponding shade of blue to match their gowns.

Mrs. Doolin, mother of the bride, wore pink nylon lace for her daughter's wedding. Her accessories were white and her flowers, a white orchid, worn at the shoulder.

Afternoon Reception

Following a wedding breakfast served at the Dunlap hotel to members of the wedding party and immediate family members the couple received guests at a reception at the Hotel from one-thirty in the afternoon to three o'clock. Pink and white predominated in the color arrangements and a four tiered wedding cake graced the bride's table. Pink roses and daisies formed the floral centerpiece. Guests were served wedding cake with fruit punch, mints and salted nutmeats. Assisting with the serving were Mrs. John Doolin, Mrs. Donald Brohan, Miss Eleanor Muntwyler, Shirley Doolin, Ruth Schildman and Fern Doolin registered the guests. During the reception Harold Walker sang nuptial numbers, "Because," "Through the Years," "Always" and "Ave Maria," with Mrs. Eisch serving as the accompanist.

When the newlyweds left for a honeymoon in Michigan, the bride was wearing a beige summer suit of dacron with matching color shoes and purse and pink dress accessories with a corsage in pink carnations. Upon completion of their wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Cuccia will reside in New Orleans.

The bride graduated from Routt High School and MacMurray College. She has been teaching at the Illinois School for the Deaf in this city. Mr. Cuccia received his education in New Orleans and attended Loyola University of the South. He is employed by the Avondale Marine Ways, Inc., as material coordinator at New Orleans.

Initiation Oct. 10 For Junior Woman's Club

The officers and committee chairmen of the Jacksonville Junior Woman's Club met Monday, July 22, at the home of Mrs. James Orr. Twelve board members were present.

President Ferol Henry called the meeting to order. The minutes of the June meeting were read by recording secretary, Alice Heaton. Mary Lou Reeves, treasurer, presented her report.

Reports from each committee chairman were heard. Rosemary Blazier, social chairman, announced the "Fun Nite" for members will be held September 19th, 6:30 p.m. at MacMurray Cabin. Guest night is set for September 12th. Charlotte Perbix, membership chairman, distributed current membership lists to each board member. Charlotte stated her committee met and plans are well under way for the initiation of new members which is planned for October 10.

Plan Safety Project

In the absence of the safety chairman, Rita Hamilton, the report was given by President Ferol Henry. The safety committee has been working toward a project which will improve cycling conditions on the streets for the young cyclists in Jacksonville. President Henry read a report by the public welfare chairman, Lorna Budlong, also unable to be present, stating the public welfare committee expects to begin parties for patients at the State Hospital Thursday, August 1, followed by successive parties to be held the first Thursday evening of every month.

Lois Freeman, first vice-president, requested ideas for the revision of the by-laws. Lengthy discussion followed with numerous suggestions submitted for submission to the committee on revisions and approval of the club.

New Publicity Chairman

Beverly Killam, new publicity chairman replacing Orlena Canham, was welcomed as a board member. Beverly requested that the larger committees appoint a "press reporter" in order that her committee will have access to on the spot news. Those named were: June Pavlick, social; Gloria Standley, moral and spiritual; and Ruth Linebaugh, ways and means.

Marty Gray, moral and spiritual chairman, was named as general chairman for the 20th District Junior project which is to be a basketball game, Jacksonville Juniors vs. Jerseyville Juniors. The ticket proceeds of this game are to be donated toward scholarships for teachers of exceptional children.

The board set up the budget for the year 1957-1958.

Members present in addition to the above mentioned were: Billie Scott, fine arts; Elaine Watson, American Home and Citizenship; Joyce Roesch, music. Those unable to be present were: Lorna Budlong, public welfare; Rita Hamilton, safety; and Martha Norfleet, second vice-president.

Fete Miss Knight, Bride-To-Be Of Wm. Holly Ash

Miss Ann Knight of White Hall was guest of honor Thursday afternoon at a pre-nuptial shower held at the home of Mrs. James D. Heaton at Arnold with Mrs. Hubert Norfleet of Alexander as the assistant hostess.

Miss Knight will become the bride of William Holly Ash of Arnold on Aug. 11 at three o'clock in the afternoon at White Hall.

The Heaton home was a scene of beauty carrying with it the atmosphere of the coming event and displaying a color combination of pink with white. The conventional wedding bell and a profusion of pink and white gladioli adorned the rooms of the home.

Contests afforded entertainment during the afternoon and prizes went to Mrs. Paul Norfleet and Mrs. James Cully.

Guests present were Mrs. Clement Knight, Miss Ann Knight, White Hall; Mrs. Albert Conlee, Greenfield; Mrs. John Clegg, Mrs. William Ash, Mrs. Jim Cully, Mrs. Clifton Davis, Mrs. Roy Christison, Mrs. Carl Christison, Mrs. Ethel Strawn, Miss Virgie Weller, Mrs. Wiley Jackson, Mrs. Herbert Jackson, Mrs. William Scott, Mrs. Edwin Gordon, Mrs. James Robinson, Mrs. William Williams, all of Jacksonville.

Mrs. Roy W. Davenport, Mrs. Fred Moeller, Mrs. Paul Norfleet, Mrs. Hubert Norfleet, Mrs. Francis Kaiser, Alexander.

Attractive trays holding a sandwich loaf, with pickles and wafers were served with fruit punch. Small umbrellas held candies for favors for the guests.

WADES ATTEND CHICAGO CONVENTION

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Wade, 1481 West Walnut street, are attending the Illinois Photographers Association's annual convention being held at Del Prado hotel in Chicago.

MRS. BURNETT G. BUCKBOROUGH

Sue Hackett And Burnett Buckborough Exchange Vows In Church Ceremony

Miss Sue Hackett, daughter of the John T. Hacketts, 17 Pitner Place, chose a gown of white tulle with lace applique for her wedding Sunday afternoon, July twenty-one, to Burnett G. Buckborough of South Haven, Michigan.

Appliqued lace was about the scoop neckline and the short sleeves of the snug fitting bodice. The same lace motifs were scattered about the full length bouffant skirt that ended in a sweep at the back. Her veil of illusion was secured to a small lace hat edged in pale blue satin and she carried a bouquet of stephanotis centering an arrangement of white orchids with touches of blue ribbon.

The five o'clock ceremony was performed at the First Presbyterian church with Dr. Joseph Baus reading the double ring service in which Mr. Hackett gave his daughter in marriage. Woodwardia fern and arrangements of white flowers in silver urns adorned the altar of the church.

The bridegroom is the son of Dr. and Mrs. M. W. Buckborough, Pine Ridge Farm, South Haven.

The bride chose as her matron of honor Mrs. Harris Rowe of this city. Her bridesmaids were Miss Virginia Brown of Jacksonville, Miss Helen Bullard of Winnetka and Miss Carol Buckborough of South Haven, sister of the bridegroom.

Paul Gaston of Ann Arbor, Michigan, was best man. John W. Hackett, brother of the bride, Robert W. Carpenter, New York City, and James Niffenegger of Evanston were ushers.

The attendants to the bride were gowned identically in white organdy on taffeta with pastel blue appointments. The short skirted frocks were styled on princess lines with inserts of blue organdy forming a high waistline extending from a front bow to the back and into independent gores to the hemline of the dresses. The necklines were cut scoop fashion and the sleeves were short. Each wore a brimmed blue straw hat with blue streamers and carried a Colonial bouquet of white flowers, showed with blue ribbons, on a base of blue netting.

Mrs. Hackett wore blue cotton lace on taffeta with cymbidium orchids and Mrs. Buckborough gray chiffon and lace with pink accessories and pink roses.

Reception at Home

A reception at the home of the bride's parents followed the late afternoon wedding. Assisting with the serving of the bride's cake were Mrs. John W. Hackett, Mrs. Robert Carpenter and Mrs. William Mackie.

When Mr. and Mrs. Buckborough left for the East the bride was wearing a suit in beige colored raw silk with blue accessories.

Sue graduated from the Jacksonville High School in 1953 and from Lawrence College at Appleton, Wisconsin, last spring.

The bridegroom completed his high school education at South Haven and in 1956 graduated from Dartmouth College. He is now serving with Army Intelligence at Baltimore, Maryland. The newly married couple is residing at 98 Dundalk Ave., Dundalk, Maryland.

Guests from a distance attended from South Haven and Ann Arbor, Michigan, and Park Ridge, Illinois. The groom's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Rose of Banning, California, were in the city for the wedding.

MRS. HARLAN RICHARD ADKINS

Adkins - Dobbs Nuptials Solemnized At First Baptist Church In This City

Nuptial vows were exchanged in an impressive ceremony at four o'clock Sunday afternoon, July twenty-first, at the First Baptist church by Miss Wilma Ethel Dobbs of this city and Harlan Richard Adkins of Ashland. The pastor, Reverend Milton R. Schroeder, performed the double ring service and the bride's father gave her in marriage.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Dobbs, 286 Sandusky street, and Mr. and Mrs. Armour Adkins of Ashland are the parents of the groom.

Baskets of white gladioli against palms and fern banked the altar of the church. Before the ceremony Miss Laura Smith sang, "I Love Thee," "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer," accompanied at the organ by Robert Engelbrecht.

There were two ring bearers, Billy Ward, a nephew of the bride, and Butchie Adkins, nephew of the groom. Both wore white suits with short trousers, black bow ties and maroon carnation boutonnieres.

Candles at the altar were lighted before the ceremony by John Devlin and H. A. Votsmier, both of Ashland.

Five Attendants

The bride had five attendants. Mrs. William D. Ward of Danville, a sister, was matron of honor; a sister-in-law, Mrs. Wayne S. Dobbs. Miss Sandra Baker, Miss Zoe Kilver of Pisgah and Miss Sandra Bonjean, were secondary attendants.

The attendants wore white nylon with scattered pink-orchid embroidered flowers and matching cummerbunds over the bouffant skirts. The fitted bodices had low cut necklines with slightly off-shoulder puff sleeves. Each wore a picture hat in pink-orchid net with a bow under the chin. They carried flowers of purple and white mums and pink carnations arranged in fan shape.

James Adkins of Franklin attended his brother as best man. Ushers were Arnold Thornley and Jack Leahy, both of Ashland, Wayne Dobbs, Jacksonville, and Lieutenant Wendell Dobbs, Waco, Texas, brothers of the bride.

Mrs. Dobbs wore for her daughter's wedding navy chiffon with a pink hat and gloves. Her basic accessories were in navy and her flowers orchids.

Mrs. Adkins wore for the wedding navy chiffon with a mauve hat and navy basic accessories. Her flowers also were orchids.

Reception at Hotel

A reception was held at Hotel Dunlap at five o'clock. Appointments were in silver and crystal with decor in pastels. The three tiered wedding cake was encircled with pastel flowers at the base centering the white organdy on green covered serving table. Green tinted punch was served with the cake. Assisting with the serving were Mrs. Oliver Cromwell, Mrs. William Hodgson, Mrs. James Adkins, Mrs. Dan Ballard, Mrs. Bill Long, Mrs. Robert Wood, Miss Neva Compton, Miss Sharon Dowland, Mrs. Denny Hodge, Mrs. James Beck and Mrs. LeRoy Jackson, Jr.

For her going away costume the bride wore a sheath cut navy dacron dress with white accessories. Upon their return the couple will be at home to friends at 207 Caldwell street in this city.

Mrs. Adkins is a graduate of the Jacksonville High School and will be a senior at Illinois College this fall where she is a member of Chi Beta society and the Hilltoppers Dramatic society, Alpha Psi Omega dramatic society and Pi Kappa Delta honorary forensic society. Upon graduation she plans to teach in secondary schools.

Mr. Adkins graduated from Ashland High School and attended Western State College at Macomb. He is engaged in farming near Ashland.

Among the guests from a distance were Mr. C. A. Rolston and daughter and Mrs. Glenna McIver, Peoria and the grandparents of the bridegroom, Mr. and Mrs. John Adkins of Prentice.

Miss Rolston Feted At Party Held At Franklin

A bridal shower was held Wednesday night, July 24th, at the Methodist Church in Franklin in honor of Miss Cloda Jean Rolston, who will become the bride of Edward R. Harrell of Jacksonville.

The hostesses, Mrs. Ralph Dahman and Mrs. Howard Scott, entertained the guests with several games. Prizes were won by Mrs. John Harrell, Jr., Mrs. Harry Whitlock and Miss Carolyn Dahman. The church parlors were very attractively decorated. Refreshments of cake and punch were served. The bride-to-be received many lovely and useful gifts.

Rushville Girl To Wed Local Recruiter

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest J. Daley of Camden, Illinois, announce the engagement and the forth coming marriage of their daughter, Mary, to S/Sgt. William R. Shenaut, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Shenaut of Knoxville, Illinois.

The wedding will be solemnized at the First Methodist Church in Rushville, Illinois, the 25th of August at 4 p.m. with Rev. Lewis Dee Hopper officiating.

The bride-to-be is a graduate of Rushville High School and for the past three years has been employed by Doane G. Trone, attorney in Rushville. She is presently employed at the Kordite Company in Jacksonville.

Fete Alicia Fitzpatrick At Pre-Nuptial Shower

Miss Alicia Fitzpatrick, who will become the bride of Ronald Craigmiles on August 3rd, was honored at a miscellaneous shower Wednesday, July 24, arranged by her aunt, Miss Margaret Fitzpatrick, and grandmother, Mrs. Nellie Fitzpatrick, at their home, 922 W. College avenue. The home was attractively decorated throughout with various arrangements of sweet peas, snapdragons, and other garden flowers. The table on which the bride-to-be gifts were placed was centered with a miniature bridal doll standing on a pedestal of styrofoam in which was placed tiny multi-colored flowers. A silver colored sprinkler, elevated above the table, decorated with pink and white crepe paper with streamers of the same colors protruding from the spout upon the gifts, added to the shower effect for the occasion.

Miss Fitzpatrick opened her many useful and attractive gifts according to numbers concealed inside inflated balloons of various colors which hung from colored strings in the background. The bursting of the balloons to obtain the numbers added novelty to the party.

Unique bridal contests were enjoyed by the guests with prizes going to Mrs. Edward Fitzpatrick, Mrs. Albert Standish, Mrs. D. J. Reardon, and Mrs. Mary Fitzpatrick.

Refreshments in keeping with the bridal colors, pink and white, were served by the hostesses assisted by the Misses Mary Ellen and Marlena Fitzpatrick, and Mrs. William Reed.

Guests present other than the guest of honor included: Mrs. Miles Fitzpatrick, mother of the bride-to-be, and Mrs. D. J. Reardon, Mrs. Anna Standish, Mrs. Mary Fitzpatrick, Mrs. Bernard Moore, Mrs. Robert Lockhart, Mrs. Albert Standish, Mrs. William Reed, Mrs. Earl Meyer, Mrs. Walter Staten, Mrs. Dwyer Leahy, Mrs. Joseph Fitzpatrick, Mrs. Edward Fitzpatrick, and the Misses Aileen Standish, Norma Standish, Mary Ellen Fitzpatrick and Marlena Fitzpatrick.

Invited guests who were not present but sent gifts were: Mrs. Edward Standish, Mrs. John Standish, Mrs. Tim Murphy, Mrs. Francis Reardon, Mrs. Eugene Reardon, Mrs. Homer Mitchell, Mrs. Bart Wells, and Mrs. John Garvin.

Meredosia Girl Is Bride

MRS. GERALD LEROY GROSS

Marilyn Schneider Of Meredosia Bride Of Springfield Man In Ceremony There

Meredosia—Miss Marilyn Margaret Schneider, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Schneider and Gerald Leroy Gross, son of Ernest T. Gross of Springfield, were united in marriage the last Sunday in the month of June at St. John's Lutheran church in Springfield. The pastor, Rev. H. C. Peterson, performed the double ring ceremony and the father of the bride gave her in marriage.

Before the ceremony Miss Ruth Atkins sang, "Because," "I Love Thee" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Miss Vera Kay Fricke of Arenzville was the bride's maid of honor and her sister, Jolene Schneider, was bridesmaid.

Nylon and Lace Gown

The bride wore a floor length gown of white imported French lace and nylon tulle over shimmering satin. Soft scallops of the lace faced pleated tulle outlining the V cut neckline of the fitted long sleeved bodice. Lace applique in a scroll design adorned the billowing tulle skirt of tiered ruffles worn over hoops. Her fingertip length veil was held to a crown of sequins and pearls and she carried a bride's bouquet of colonial roses with ivy.

The maid of honor wore floor length white nylon eyelet over blue taffeta styled with a blue cummerbund with long tapers at the back. She wore a blue nylon net picture hat and carried a colonial bouquet of pink colonial roses.

The bridesmaid wore full length white embroidered organdy over blue taffeta with a blue cummerbund and large matching bow at the back. She wore a garland of flowers in her hair and carried pink and white roses in a colonial bouquet finished with ivy.

At Washington Park Pavilion

At three-thirty o'clock guests were received at a reception held at the Washington Park Pavilion in Springfield. The serving table was appointed in blue and white. The bride's cake centered the table and was frosted white with blue tinted flowers. Mrs. Burt Carver cut and served cake. Miss Marguerite Mathews served punch and Mrs. George Hall poured coffee.

When the couple left for a wedding trip to southern points the bride was wearing a poudre blue linen suit with white accessories and a corsage of white roses. Mr. and Mrs. Gross are now making their home in Decatur where the groom will attend Milligan University this fall.

Mrs. Gross graduated from Meredosia High School and Western University at Macomb. The bridegroom is a graduate of Lanphier High School in Springfield and attended Western at Macomb He holds a Lieutenant rating in the Illinois National Guard.

Among the out of town guests were A. Gross of Decatur, grandfather of the groom, Mr. and Mrs. David Hartong of Gaza, Iowa, grandparents of the bride and relatives and friends of the couple from Primghar, Iowa, Decatur, Hillsboro, Springfield and Meredosia.

Fifty Attend Waverly Lions Chicken Fry

WAVERLY — About 50 persons attended the Waverly Lions Club and family night chicken fry Tuesday, July 23, in the American Legion building. Mrs. Marie Staton and daughter, Mrs. Donald Lowder, prepared the fried chicken and the wives provided other dishes for the supper.

Miss Reichart Of New Berlin, Carl Gabriel Wed

NEW BERLIN — The marriage of Miss Florence Reichart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Reichart of New Berlin to Carl Gabriel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lars V. Gabriel of Arroll, Missouri, was solemnized at 9 a.m. Saturday, July 20 at St. Mary's church in New Berlin. Rev. Charles J. Fanning received the vows in the double ring ceremony.

The bride was attired in a gown of Chantilly lace and tulle over taffeta fashioned with a molded bodice and long tapered snug sleeves with points coming over the hands. A design of iridescent sequins enhanced the delicately scalloped Sabrina neckline and edged the waist. Panels of lace extended down the center front and back of he tulle skirt, which was worn over hoops. The bride's fingertip veil of imported French illusion was secured to a queen's crown encrusted with sequins and seed pearls. She carried an arrangement of Amazon lilies on a mother of pearl prayer book, with showers of feathered carnations and ivy. The prayer book was a gift of the bridegroom. The bride carried out the tradition of something old, new, borrowed and blue.

Mrs. Paul J. Staab, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Josephine Gotta and Miss Margaret Knepler.

Paul J. Staab served as best man. Robert Frank and Boleslaw Dzierwa were groomsmen. Charles Reichart, brother of the bride, and William Belitz, brother-in-law of the bride, were ushers.

A wedding breakfast for the bridal party and the immediate families was served at the home of the bride's parents, following the ceremony.

Following a two week southern wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Gabriel will reside in LaSalle, where he will be a mathematics instructor at the local high school.

WHEAT PRICES WEAK AS FLOUR BUSINESS FAILS TO DEVELOP

CHICAGO, (AP) — Biggest disappointment on the Board of Trade this week was the failure of any large scale bakery flour business to develop.

As a result, wheat futures rolled along on a weak tone most of the time, except on Friday when the bread grain got a lift on reports that some flour business, although small had been sighted. This brought on a moderate rally and wheat closed higher for the first time this week.

Soybeans, which staged a bull market most of last week with gains of 5 to 8¼ cents, reversed the trend this week, ending up with declines ranging from 8½ to 11¼ cents. Corn, oats and rye also suffered setbacks on the downturn.

New style wheat closed the week 2½ to 3½ lower than Friday a week ago. Corn was 1⅜ to 3¼ cents lower, oats down 1 to 1⅜ cents, rye off 4 to 5 cents, soybeans 8½ to 11¼ cents lower and lard was down 43 to 47 cents a hundred pounds.

Many wheat traders, disappointed at failure of the long over due flour business to enter the market, conjectured that the big chain bakers are holding out in hopes of a price decline before making substantial purchases.

Soybeans turned bearish this week after scoring gains most of the month. Beans started the week higher, apparently going ahead on last week's bullish momentum, but quickly declined in the face of heavy liquidation. Biggest decline of the week was 6¾ cents, on Monday. Several rallies in beans fizzled out.

The corn market throughout the week was devoid of feature. Local stocks of corn remained constant at approximately 25,500,000 bushels, of which about 40 per cent was free corn. Local industry was the best buyer of cash corn but this failed to strengthen futures prices.

New York Stock Market

NEW YORK, (AP)—Stocks made minor upward progress on average this week as midsummer lassitude overtook the market and trading simmered down to the lowest level in two months.

It would have been a very satisfactory week for the bulls if they could have ignored Monday and Friday. Prices declined both of those days. Sandwiched between them were three days of quite respectable gains.

Rails led the advance on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, which greatly cheered the bulls because the rails have lagged behind industrials for many weeks. Baltimore and Ohio paced the upward charge, setting a new high for the year.

Many rails came out with June and six months earnings reports during the week. Reflecting the consistently lower freight carloadings this year, these earnings generally fell under the comparative 1956 levels.

The steels also had a run of popularity. Bethlehem, Republic and Youngstown reported their earnings. In each case net income for the first half was above a year ago but the second quarter fell under that of 1956.

While the Associated Press average of 60 stocks ended 30 cents higher for the week at $187.100, there were only 476 advances in contrast with 734 declines for the entire list. And new lows for the year outnumbered new highs 121 to 61.

For the week, volume totaled 9,031,950 shares. This was the smallest turnover since the week ended May 31, when it totaled 8,676,490 shares. But there were only four trading days that week.

The five most active issues on the New York stock exchange were:

Chrysler, down ¾ at 78⅝, on 190,200 shares; Sunshine Mining, unchanged at 12; Decca Records, up 1½ at 18¾; El Paso Natural Gas, down 2 at 36⅜; and Bethlehem Steel, down ¼ at 49.

Quiet Bandit Robs Paducah, Ky. Bank Of $2,144

PADUCAH, Ky. (AP) — A quiet, soft-spoken bandit robbed the people's National Bank and Trust Co. of $2,144 Saturday.

Cashier Henry Griffin said he and his clerk, Mrs. Mary Pittman, were alone in the bank when the man walked in just before noon, pulled a revolver and told Griffin he wanted "all th money you have."

Mrs. Pittman said the man described as about 5 feet 6 inches tall and weighing about 150 pounds, was so quiet, "I didn't even know a robbery was happening until I saw him run out the door."

Griffin said he and Mrs. Pittman ran to the front door as soon as the bandit left, but the man had already disappeared.

State police and the FBI were immediately notified and roadblocks were set up on all outlets from the city.

Telephone Hoax Causes Bomb Search On Plane

CHICAGO (AP)—A telephone hoax today caused the second bomb search in three days on Sioux City-to-Chicago passenger planes.

Saturday's bomb scare caused emergency landing procedure for an Ozark Air Lines plane with 27 persons aboard, as it arrived at Midway Airport.

An official of the line said an anonymous telephone call was received by Ozark's Sioux City agent. The caller said that a bomb had been put aboard the plane at Sioux City during a stop in a St. Louis-Chicago flight. The call was received as the plane neared Chicago.

Thursday, a similar phone call received at Sioux City caused the search of two planes upon their arrival at Chicago. The ships, operated by Braniff and Ozark, were found free of bombs.

Charles Rucker, Ozark's manager at Chicago, said that one piece of cargo and one mail sack were put aboard at Sioux City. These were searched carefully within minutes after the landing. One passenger who boarded the plane at Sioux City, Rucker said, left the plane at Rockford, Ill.

Manassas Wins $125,400 At Arlington Park

CHICAGO (AP) — Manassas charged up the stretch to win by more than two lengths in the $125,400 Arlington Handicap on turf on Arlington Park's closing program Saturday. Swoon's Son, the even money favorite, finished second while St. Vincent was third in the mile and three-sixteenths race.

Manassas, a 4-year-old bay colt by Bull Run, came up strongly on the far turn under the urging of Doug Dodson and moved ahead at the eighth pole.

Swoon's Son, ridden by Dave Erb, had trouble threading through the 14-horse field most of the way and didn't move into strong contention until the top of the stretch.

Manassas paid $15.20, $5.20 and $3.60. Swoon's Son returned $3.20 and $2.80. St. Vincent's show money was $5.80.

The winner's time was 1:55 2-5.

In the $106,025 Arlington Lassie, the first race in the big doubleheader program, Poly Hi was the winner.

Delnita was second and Hasty Doll third in the six furlongs event for 2-year-old fillies.

Ridden by Eric Guerin, Poly Hi returned to her backers in a crowd of 32,123 a price of $4.60, $3.40 and $2.60. Delnita, with Eddie Arcaro aboard, paid $6.20 and $4.20.

Friday Night Scores

By ED WILKS
The Associated Press

For the moment anyway, it looks as if all the contenders in that fantastic National League pennant brawl are a bunch of "old pros." All, that is, except the Old Pros themselves—Brooklyn's Dodgers.

Milwaukee, St. Louis, Cincinnati and Philadelphia all came through in the clutch as the battle rolled through four extra-inning games Friday while the Brooks, taking their lumps away from chummy Ebbets Field, fell short and skidded to fourth with their third defeat in a row.

The Braves had to win to hold the lead, and they did—beating New York's Giants 6-3 on an 11-inning, three-run homer by Nippy Jones.

The Cardinals had to win to stay within three percentage points of Milwaukee, and they did—defeating Pittsburgh 4-3 as Al Dark singled with the bases loaded in the 10th.

The Redlegs had to win to stay only a game off the pace, and they did—blowing a 5-1 lead as the Dodgers gave it the big try, but coming back to win 6-5 in 11 innings on a two out single by Johnny Temple.

And the Phillies, scrambling to stay alive, turned on the juice in the 10th to pick up two unearned runs that beat Chicago's Cubs 3-1, leaving the fifth-place Phils just a half game behind Brooklyn.

The American League race showed signs of coming alive, too, what with Jim Bunning two-hitting New York for a 3-2 Detroit victory. The Yankees have lost three in a row and five of seven to lead Chicago by three games. The White Sox, after losing 5-2 at Baltimore, came back to win the second game of a twi-night doubleheader 1-0 on the two-hit pitching of Jim Wilson and Billy Pierce who made his second relief appearance to save it.

Boston walloped Cleveland 10-1, with Ted Williams taking an undisputed hold on the batting lead again and Washington beat Kansas City 3-2.

The Braves, after losing two in a row to the Phillies, got back to business with a bunt by Del Crandall, a sacrifice and an intentional walk to Andy Pafko. Then along came Jones. The ex-Cardinal, back to the majors as a first base reserve after Joe Adcock broke a leg, walloped one of reliever Stu Miller's soft pitches to bust it up.

Gene Conley won it with a perfect three-inning relief job after Lew Burdette had been smacked for three home runs, by Hank Sauer, starting pitcher Ruben Gomez and Ed Bressoud. The Braves tied the Giants with two runs in the seventh as Red Schoendienst pushed his hit streak to 23 games with an RBI double and scored on a single by Frank Torre.

Willard Schmidt won his ninth in a row for a 9-1 record, coming on in relief of Lindy McDaniel after the Cards had tied the Bucs 3-all in the fifth inning on home runs by Ken Boyer and Don Blasingame. A pair of walks and a bunt loaded the bases for Dark in the 10th against reliever Ron Kline, who lost his seventh in a row for a 2-15 record.

Cincinnati matched the Cards with three in a row as relief winner Hersh Freeman doubled with two out in the 11th against reliever Roger Craig, then sprinted home on Temple's hit. Ed Bailey's 15th homer had triggered a five-run fifth for the Redlegs against Sandy Koufax, but the Brooks battled back on Elmer Valo's two-run pinch homer in the eighth and a two-run single by Roy Campanella in the ninth.

Ed Bouchee, who was 3-for-4, doubled in the 10th for the Phils off loser Bob Rush (1-11) and scored as reliever Turk Lown threw wild on Stan Lopata's bunt. Lopata, who went to third, scored on Harry Anderson's single. Warren Hacker won it.

Wilson won his 11th for the White Sox. When he walked loser Ken Lehman in the ninth and a sacrifice pushed the runner to second, 14-game winner Pierce came on. He walked Bob Boyd, then fanned Al Pilarcik and Joe Durham. The Sox scored in the second when Larry Doby walked, went to third on Luis Aparicio's single and counted on Sammy Esposito's fly ball.

It was Durham who capped a five-run Oriole first with a two-on homer against Jack Harshman to nail the opener. Ray Moore won it.

Bunning had the Yankees hitless until Yogi Berra led off with a triple in the seventh and scored on Bill Skowron's fly. The other Yank hit was Mickey Mantle's 27th home run—no. 200 of his career—in the ninth.

Mickey Wright Reclaims Lead In Wolverine Open

DETROIT (AP)—Mickey Wright of Chula Vista, Calif., reclaimed the lead in the Wolverine Ladies' Open Golf tournament Saturday, banging out a five-under-par 70 for a 54-hole total of 214 and a two stroke lead.

The slender 22-year-old had the first-round lead, relinquished it Friday to Vonnie Colby of Miami Beach, Fla., and charged back into command on the strength of bold but accurate iron shots.

Miss Colby and Kathy Cornelius of Dayton, Ohio, shared second place, each with 216, as the field prepared for Sunday's showdown round at the 6,406-yard Lochmoor Club course.

Miss Wright fired a 34-36—70 to go with earlier rounds of 70 and 74.

Fay Crocker of Montevideo, Uruguay, matched Mickey's 70 and crept up to fourth place with a 217 total. Miss Crocker, consistently among the top money winners and winner of the Miami Beach and triangle round robin tournaments last winter, said she had trouble with her driving and went immediately to the practice tee after completion of her 18 holes

Officials at Lochmoor club increased the prize money in this 72-hole tournament by 10 per cent making the total $8,250.

U.S. Lawyers Dedicate Magna Carta Memorial

In his address to the American attorneys Friday Prime Minister Harold Macmillan said there were echoes of the Magna Carta in the Bill of Rights, the U. S. Constitution, the Declaration of Independence and even the Atlantic Charter.

King John, reigning before Parliament was created, was required by the charter to pay for wood that he used to build bridges armed men to fight his wars, appoint sheriffs and bailiffs who knew something about law, cease issuing arbitrary writs and leave punishment of accused earls and barons to bodies of their peers. The concessions were models for future legislation on justice and administration.

Guzman In Exile

Arbenz Guzman is now in exile in Montevideo, Uruguay. There was no immediate comment from him.

Castillo Armas had celebrated the third anniversary of his victory over Arbenz Guzman last July 3.

He marked the anniversary by dedicating 400 small public works, including hospitals, schools, water supply systems and a rural hydroelectric plant, completed in the past year at a cost of 25 million dollars. Castillo Armas also gave 3,000 farm workers deeds to small holdings of land as part of his regime's agricultural reform policies.

British Call Off Bombing In Oman

SHARJA, Trucial Oman (AP)—The red flag of the Sultan was reported flying over rebel strongholds in Oman and Muscat Saturday, and the British called off their jet fighter-bombers.

After three days of rocket-blasting at rebel-held forts RAF planes switched to dropping leaflets again telling Omanis to swing behind the pro-British Sultan and for the rebels to quit.

Throughout the British assault, the strongholds flew the white flag of the Imam of Oman, religious leader Ghalib ben Ali who came back from Saudi Arabian exile to try to overthrow Sultan Said bin Taimur.

Whether the flying of the Sultan's flag was definite indication the rebels had given up under the British pounding was not known here. But the British took it as a hopeful sign.

In Damascus, the government of Syria called on the United States, the Soviet Union and other foreign powers to "act diplomatically" toward ending Britain's intervention in the tiny Arab sultanate, reliable sources reported. Syria charged Britain was using NATO arms against the Oman rebels.

RULE BOY'S DEATH DUE TO FALL IS ACCIDENTAL

CHICAGO (AP)—A coroner's jury Saturday ruled accidental the death of a 3-year-old Canadian boy who fell Friday night from a third-story window in the home of a relative.

Detective Ernest Helmer told the jury that a cousin, Florence Irene Scheffler, 5, grabbed the boy as he tumbled through a screen but that his shoe came off in her hand.

Pike County Plans To Build New Golf Course

PITTSFIELD — For the past 20 years it has been necessary for Pittsfield golfers to use the greens in nearby cities to enjoy their favorite sport, many have gone to Jacksonville, Louisiana and Quincy. A golf course which was in operation east of the city at one time had few facilities and during the drought of 20 years ago was burned up. There has been no local golfing since.

However, at the present time a golf course is being promoted again by a group of interested players, and plans are being worked out for the building of a fine course. A non-profit sharing organization has been incorporated this week to be called the Pike County Development Association, with the prospective new golf course to be a county wide project.

An option (until Sept. 1) has been taken on the former Foreman Orchards property just east of the city off route 36-54, now owned by Lee Newman and Son.

The group of men who have been working on the project include Clarence Marshall, Charles Fisher, Don Sloan, Dick Miles, Dick Niebur, A. T. Brant, Kay Barber, Lewis Grigsby, M. D. King of Pittsfield and Don Hannant of Griggsville. They have called a meeting for next Monday night at 8 o'clock at the Legion Hall for further consideration of the project. The present temporary set up will be reviewed at the meeting for approval, and everyone interested in golf and family recreation is being urged to attend.

The Newman property appears to the promoters to be the most ideal of many sites they have investigated, with plenty of water and a building suitable for conversion into a club house. It is proposed to raise the money to finance the project by the sale of stock in the Pike County Development Assn. with a necessary goal of $40,000, to be raised in the next four weeks, before the expiration of the option, and as soon as that amount is subscribed it is intended to proceed with the construction of the proposed golf course. However, no work will be done until the full amount has been subscribed.

SNEAD'S FIRST 10

DETROIT (AP) "I've had eights before, but never a 10," declared Sam Snead after he went six shots over par on the 459-yard fourth hole at Plum Hollow in the Western Open.

Snead's 10 put him seven strokes over par for the first four holes during the first round. However, he played the last 14 holes in two under par for a 76.

EIGHT KILLED IN COLLISION IN TEXAS

KENEDY, Tex. (AP)—Two automobiles collided head-on about four miles south of this south Texas farming center Saturday, killing eight persons and injuring one other.

Five were killed outright when the two cars smashed into each other on Highway 81. Three others died a short time later in a Kenedy hospital.

Four were members of an Ingleside, Tex., family. They were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Moas, a 2-year-old daughter, and Moas' 15-year-old stepson, James Lee Michael Acron. A daughter, Leslie, 5, was critically injured.

Also killed were Marvin Hardy, 31, Beatrice Hardy, 41, Joe Barrientes, 66, and Jesus Jimnez, 37, all of San Antonio.

Finsterwald May Be The Man To Watch At Tam

CHICAGO (AP) — This could be the time that one of golf's younger pros sets the old-timers on their ears and wins the game's greatest choke - up tournament—the $101,200 "world championship" at Tam O'Shanter.

The man to watch in golf's Russian roulette as the first section of the doubleheader, the $25,000 All American, opens next week could be 27-year-old Finsterwald.

Only once before has a younger pro broken on top in the "world's" pressurized money struggle. Bob Toski was 27 when he hit the winning jackpot of $50,000 in 1954.

Julius Boros cleaned up in 1955 and another veteran, Ted Kroll, took the marbles last year.

But in these last two years, the improving Finsterwald, who has yet to win a big one, always has been in contention entering the final round of the fabulous 72 holes.

Another perennial contender is Australian Peter Thomson, 27, who again heads up a foreign delegation along with Roberto De Vicenzo.

Finsterwald can write a parallel to Kroll's victory of last year. Kroll shot a final 66 for a 15-under-par 273, matching Ben Hogan's previous record low for the meet set in 1951.

Finsterwald, like Kroll, enters the tournament on the heels of being beaten in the finals of the recent national PGA. And, like Kroll, he is a tourney bridesmaid—nearly always high in the money but never a winner.

The jamboree, drawing virtually all of golf's big names and many of the smaller ones, starts Thursday with the All American warmup. Four divisions will be played simultaneously with champions of the men pros, women pros, men amateurs and women amateurs being crowned.

The All American men's pro winner will collect $3,500 and the women's pro champion will receive $1,500. Appropriate trophies and merchandise awards go to the amateurs.

Chest Of Judge Pierced In Track Meet By Javelin

LONDON, (AP) — Stan Cox, who during his career was known as the unluckiest man in track, was stabbed near the heart Saturday by a flying javelin while serving as a judge of the spear throwing event.

Cox, a marathon runner who represented England in the 1948 and 1952 Olympics, was taken to a hospital in a critical condition. Although Cox was standing some 180 feet from the throwing line, the pound and a half steel-shafted spear hit his chest with such force that a rib was broken. The chest was pierced.

Doctors said later that he would live.

The athletes, all of whom used the conventional style of throwing the javelin, refused to identify the competitor involved in the accident.

Cox, still lean and wiry at 39, fainted after 17 miles in the 1952 marathon at Helsinki and ran into a telegraph pole in the British Empire Games at Cancouver in 1954. He was the British six mile champion in 1948.

Adm. Sherman Dies Of Heart Ailment

Death was caused by a heart condition, attendants said. The officer entered the hospital after a heart attack July 12.

Sherman was one of the nation's great sea and air leaders in the war with Japan. He was a task force commander, a postwar author, and a Civil Defense coordinator.

Adm. Sherman was born in Port Huron, Mich. He entered the Naval Academy in 1906 and was graduated in 1910.

Finsterwald, L. Herbert Enter Milwaukee Open

MILWAUKEE (AP)— Four more entries, including those of PGA champion Lionel Hebert and runnerup Dow Finsterwald, were received Saturday for the $35,000 Milwaukee Open Golf Championship Aug. 22-25 at the Tripoli Golf Club.

Signing up, along with Hebert and Finsterwald, were Walter Burkemo of Detroit, a former PGA kingpin, and Don Whitt, promising youngster from Alameda, Calif.

Hebert, younger brother of veteran Jay Hebert, will be making his first appearance here. He quit his club job at Eire, Pa., last fall determined to make or break himself on the pro tour. He capped his efforts by beating Finsterwald, 2 and 1, at Dayton, Ohio, for the PGA title. Hebert comes from Lafayette, La.

Finsterwald, 27-year-old native of Athens, Ohio, currently is one of golf's leading money winners, with more than $20,000. He finished 23rd in the Milwaukee Open last year and wound up with winnings of $29,513.

TERRORISM CONTINUES

ORAN, Algeria (AP)—A terrorist hurled a bomb into a crowd awaiting for a bus here today, wounding two persons. He was seized by an angry mob and lynched on the spot.

Local prison authorities announced that two rebels were executed this morning, bringing the total number of executions for terrorism in Algeria to 68 in a little over a year.

Kubek's Squeeze Bunt Paces Yankees To 4-3 Count Over Detroit

NEW YORK (AP) — Rookie Tony Kubek dumped a perfect one-out squeeze bunt Saturday to score Jerry Coleman with a ninth-inning run that gave the New York Yankees a comeback 4-3 victory over the Detroit Tigers.

Detroit relief pitcher Al Aber, called in to pitch to the left-handed-hitting Kubek, had to play on Coleman, who had touched off the winning rally with a triple.

Pinch hitter Elston Howard was purposely passed before the 20-year-old rookie crossed up the Tiger defense with a first-pitch bunt. Coleman, running on the play, touched home plate about the same time Aber got the ball.

The Yanks had drawn even with Detroit with a three-run outburst in the eighth on four hits and a walk.

Country Club Swimmers Beat Quincy, 139-117

Jacksonville Country Club played host to the Quincy Country Club in a dual swimming meet at the Eastside pool Friday afternoon.

The local swimmers emerged victorious over the Quincy natators to the tune of 139-117. This is the first swimming meet that Jacksonville Country Club has won in the two years that they have had a swimming team.

The meet was very close throughout and was not really decided until the last few events. Winning the majority of the relays was a big factor in the victory.

There were many thrilling races but two that were outstanding were Bonnie Sutphen's victory in the final yards of the 50 yard freestyle (Girls 13 & 14) and Fred Pigott's similar finish in the 50 yard Butterfly (Boys 15 & 16).

Narleski Checks Boston, Indians Claim 7-2 Win

BOSTON (AP) — Ray Narleski, Cleveland's bullpen specialist making only his sixth start in four major league seasons, checked Boston 7-2 on seven hits Saturday including Ted Williams' 28th home run.

While Narleski eased the injury riddled Tribe pitching picture, big Vic Wertz cracked out a tie-breaking single in the busy sixth inning and doubled for another run in the eighth.

Tommy Bolt's 205 Paces Field In Eastern Open

BALTIMORE (AP)—Tommy Bolt lost his two-stroke lead temporarily Saturday to Fred Hawkins and took it right back with a spurt of birdies in a deadly head-to-head contest during the third round of the Eastern Open golf tournament.

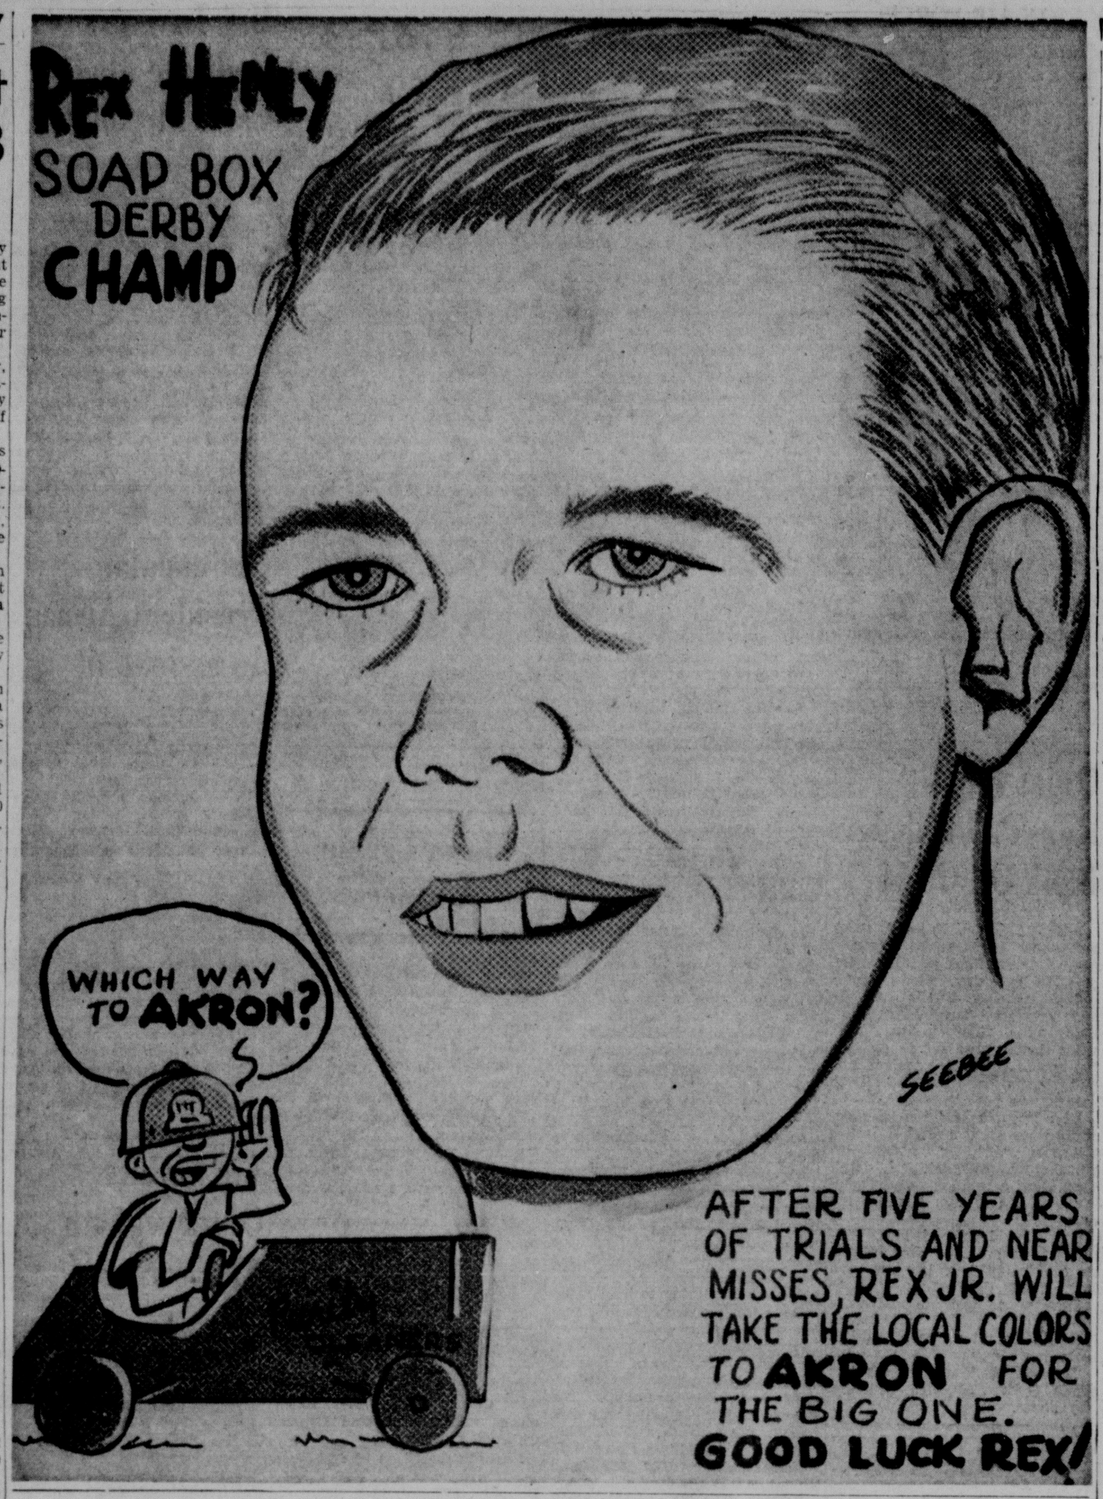

Tommy and Hawkins both came out with three-under par 69s after spasmodic turns at brilliance.

Bolt went into the final 18 holes Sunday with a total of 205 to 207 for Hawkins. Doug Ford of Mahone, N. Y., had a total 208.

Tied in the next spot at 209 were Bill Casper of Bonita, Calif., Frank Stranahan of Toledo and Pillarney of Bolton, Mass.

Bolt, 38-year-old Oklahoman playing out of Los Angeles, and Hawkins, 33-year-old Texan, put on a terrific match, playing in the last trio of the 97 competitors.

After the 209 ties for fourth place, there was a two-stroke jump to the next contenders, Bert Weaver of Beaumont, Texas, and Billy Collins of Grossinger, N. Y.

MILWAUKEE CALLS HAZLE, ROACH UP FROM FARM TEAMS

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The Milwaukee Braves announced Saturday night that outfielder Bob Hazle and second baseman Mel Roach are expected to join the team Sunday in time for a doubleheader with the New York Giants.

Hazle's contract was purchased from the Braves' farm at Wichita, Kan., in the AAA American Assn. He is 27 years old, bats and throws right and lives at Columbia, S. C. He has been hitting .283.

Roach is being returned to Milwaukee from Jacksonville in the South Atlantic League where he currently is hitting .305. His return will not count on the Braves' roster because he recently was released from the armed service.

FREESE ENJOYS GREAT NIGHT OF RACING

Eddie Freese of Quincy displayed plenty of driving skill at the Morgan County Fairgrounds Friday in capturing the feature, novelty and the best time for one lap.

It was the first feature victory for Freeze at the local speedway this season and Eddie was practically given the feature event. Wildman Kelly held a commanding margin throughout most of the race but with the event two-thirds over, Kelly ran into engine trouble, and Freese, who had started on the outside in the third row, drove himself into second place and quite naturally took over the top position after Kelly was forced out.

Perhaps, the finest driving that has been turned in at Fairgrounds this season came in the 8-car novelty race. Freese, who was at the back of the staggered pack at the start, drove his little black 17 up to the front of the field with Fibber McGee and was behind with two laps to go. Freese pulled even with McGee on the curve coming into the final stretch and nosed McGee out by a tire at the finish line.

In the drag racing, the classes were all run off, but there was no top eliminator due to the slick track after the sudden rain that came and went before the third heat event.

There will be no stock car races this coming Friday night, due to the Morgan County Fair, which starts Wednesday.

1ST HEAT WINNER: Ray Black, Macomb.

2ND HEAT WINNER: Francis Kelly, Macomb.

3RD HEAT WINNER: Floyd Yaeger, Pittsfield.

SCAT RACE: 1st, Dick Vance, Hannibal; 2nd, Chet Newberry, Quincy; 3rd, Eddie Freese, Quincy.

Drag Race Results:

Class SB, Charles Gramlich, Springfield.

Class SA, Bill Lewis, Jacksonville.

Class SS, Herb Glancy, Concord.

Class C, Bill Curtis, Canton.

Class A, Bill Crawford, Jacksonville.

Class MD, Stanley Lomelino, Virden.

Rain postponed eliminator series.

SeeBee has been feeling a little under the weather the past couple of days and it looked as though the sport page was going to be minus a character illustration this week. But you can't keep an ole pro down and Charlie finished Rex Henly, our local Soap Box Derby champion, in good time when you stop and consider Charlie's plight this past week. In his golf match with Rog Ezard Monday night, Blesse held a two-stroke margin after nine holes.

The boys decided to play off the final nine holes Tuesday night, the same night Charlie's league - leading U.C.T. Pony Leaguers were scheduled to play K. of C. Not only did SeeBee lose the match to Ezard, but his U.C.T. crew bowed to K. of C. and believe me, it took more than three cups of coffee for him to explain all of his eventful Tuesday. Then, Wednesday night, the Pony League All-Stars, of which Charlie is co-manager, lost to the Colt Leaguers, 5-2. Well, that's almost enough to put anyone under the weather.

—0—

Back to our illustration. Rex Henly, age 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rex O. Henly, is one of four children in the Henly clan. Rex is the oldest, Mary and Jerry, who are twins are 14, and then comes wee Willie, age 11. Henly's victory in the Soap Box Derby last Sunday came after five years of hard work and heartbreak, especially in 1956, after Rex was eliminated in his first heat. In '53, Rex won his first heat and then lost in the second race. 1954 saw Henly win his first two heats and then lose in his third attempt, the identical record he turned in for the 1955 classic.

—0—

After being blanked in his 1956 start, I would say Rex bounced back like a champion and that he must be for he earned the right to take himself and his folks to the Akron, Ohio finals. Rex, who will be a junior at JHS this fall, served as the basketball manager for the Junior Varsity last season and played Junior Varsity football. When asked about his plans for this fall, Rex didn't know if he would go out for football or not. Besides, it's almost too early to ask that question, especially if a fellow is concentrating on the $5,000 scholarship they offer for 1st at Akron.

Henly's car, several people spotted SeeBee and I looking it over Tuesday night, measures 78 inches in length and weighs 100 pounds. (He's been streamlining the car this week). With Jerry's 148 pounds, Jacksonville's entry will be carrying 248 pounds coming down the ramp at Akron, Sunday, August 18. Probably the twins and Willie won't make the trip as they wouldn't be allowed to enter Derby Downs or sit with their folks in the parents' section at the runoff. The Henlys all seem to be interested in athletics. Rex O. is a member of the Pony-Colt League committee, Jerry plays for U.C.T., Willie is in the Elks Little League and Mary, I believe, is a drum majorette. Dorothy, the lady of the house, is the cheerleader, she has to be. The household at 911 West College won't be the same until the Akron classic is over. Best of luck, have a good trip, and bring home the champion, win or lose.

—0—

Another hole-in-one, the second so far this season at the Country Club, was turned in by Joe Doyle. Joe made his shot on number four, 172 yards away, Wednesday. Doyle used a five iron and his witnesses were out of town guests. Charlie Davis made the first hole-in-one of the season at the Jacksonville Country Club 15 days ago on number 6 and Joe became the second hole-in-one artist of the season so far. Sam Pinson, playing in the foursome with Willie Barber Friday, just missed by an inch, making a hole-in-one on number four. Sam's shot hit the green on the fly, took a nice slow roll, rolled around the rim of the hole and ended up about 10 inches away. Either these guys are getting better all the time or that new Spaulding ball is a whizz. One thing I've been forgetting to mention is the praise Patty Berg, Willie and Jerry Barber have heaped upon Bill Lynn and his greens at the Club. The greens are in excellent condition and the pros have expressed their gratitude to Bill and his crew for a job well done.

Dodgers Regain 3rd Slot In NL With 5-3 Victory Over Redlegs

CINCINNATI, (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers regained third place in the National League Saturday as two run homers by Gil Hodges and Carl Furillo provided the margin for a 5-3 victory over the Cincinnati Redlegs.

Danny McDevitt had the Reds shut out with seven scattered hits until the ninth when a blister on the middle finger of his pitching hand brought on a streak of wildness that caused him to be relieved.

In that inning, McDevitt walked Roy McMillan and then uncorked two wild pitches to help set the stage for a Redleg rally which fell short by a pair of runs.

The Reds picked on reliefer Carl Erskine for three straight hits and it took Clem Labine to kill off the rally.

Orioles Continue Winning Ways Over Chisox, 5-2

BALTIMORE (AP)— The battling sixth-place Baltimore Orioles continued to show disrespect for the pennant aspirations of the Chicago White Sox by whacking the American League runners-up 5-2 Saturday night.

Al Pilarcik's two-run homer and George Kell's four hits paced the Orioles to their 9th victory in 16 games with the Sox, who slipped four games behind the first place New York Yankees.

Lefty Bill Wight was credited with his third victory against five losses, although needing relief help from George Zuverink, who stopped the Sox without a hit in the last 2 1-3 innings.

The Orioles scored two runs in the third off loser Bob Keegan on Billy Gardner's double and Pilarcik's 4th home run of the season about 350 feet into the right field stands.

Baltimore added two unearned runs in the fourth.

Wight weakened in the sixth and gave up two runs on singles by Fox and Earl Torgeson, right fielder Al Pilarcik's first error of the season and a balk.

Dimaggio Scores Only Run In Yankee Victory

NEW YORK (AP)—Joe Dimaggio, greying but still graceful, responded to the roars of 45,000 and a bit of contrived collusion Saturday for another "Yankee victory" in the annual old-timers' day celebration at Yankee Stadium.

More than 50 former stars of the Yanks and Detroit Tigers, immortal Ty Cobb among them, were on hand for the stadium custom. Introduction of the former American League greats and honored guests Sam (Wahoo) Crawford and Joe McCarthy, newest additions to the Hall of Fame, took place prior to a regularly scheduled game between the current, much more spry 1957 Yanks and Tigers.

Dimaggio, who flew back from a tour of Europe for the big day, scored the only run of an informal two inning "game."

After discarding about two dozen pitches as not quite right and finally lifting a long fly to centerfielder Pete Fox in the first inning, Dimaggio turned up as an out-of-order hitter in the second.

His high fly to left fell at the struggling feet of Heinie Manush for a single.

Dimag made it to second on a bouncing single by Billy Johnson and scored from second when Detroit pitcher Dizzy Trout and catcher Mickey Cochrane bumped waistlines under Bud Metheny's pop fly between the plate and the mound.

Cobb and several others of the older old timers confined their game participation to coaching or dugout advice but there were a few "players" who had still retained that major league look.

Hall of Famer Charlie Gehringer, back at his accustomed second base spot for Detroit, hit the longest ball of the contest, a high drive that bounced into the right field stands for a ground rule double.

Baseball clown Al Schacht umpired outfitted complete with dark glasses, cane and tin cup. Comedian Phil Silvers umpired on the bases until thumbed out of the game after an argument with head umpire Schacht.

Major League Leaders

PITCHING

Jim Bunning, Tigers—Allowed two Yankee hits for 12th victory with 3-2 decision, yielding a lead-off triple to Yogi Berra in the seventh and Mickey Mantle's 200th career home run in ninth.

HITTING

Norm Zauchin, Red Sox—Drove in four runs with a perfect 3-for-3 home run, double and single, in 10-1 victory over Indians.

Jacksonville Defeats Pittsfield, 11-3, Meets Springfield Tuesday

Jacksonville meets Springfield here Tuesday evening for the District championship after earning the title shot with a decisive 11-3 victory over Pittsfield Saturday on the Elks Little League diamond. Behind Long's steady two-hit pitching, Jacksonville teed off on Pittsfield in the first two innings for 10 runs to coast to the finals.

A walk, an error, single, fielder's choice, two more walks and another fielder's choice gave Jacksonville six tallies in the first inning and as it turned out, enough runs for the victory. But Jacksonville exploded for four more runs in the second stanza on two errors, a walk, a fielder's choice and a double by Howard.

Daniel, Ferry and Howard capped Jacksonville's offensive attack with two hits apiece. Long, the game's winner, permitted only two hits but gave up six free passes which figured heavily in Pittsfield scoring.

SCOREBOARD

By HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Leroy, whose life's work is keeping a detailed account of unassisted double plays by the first baseman, walked into the office with a frown on his face.

"My list," he said, "it still shows a half dozen more than the book shows for the last nine years. I got to check it."

As Leroy went to work, the mailman arrived with a note from a guy in Bath, Me. "In the first three weeks of 1954," it began, "official records missed a total of four assists made by pitchers. I know I am correct and I list them below so you can check and correct the records."

• • •

A typical day had started in the offices of the Elias Baseball Bureau, the New York statistical outfit whose figures are used by the National League plus the International, Eastern and other minor leagues for official records.

"Do not," Seymour Siwoff, the Elias president and chief figure man warns, "call us crazy. This is a legitimate, important business."

The case of Stan Musial would seem to bear him out. The Man ran his consecutive game streak to 862 in the first game of a double-header in Pittsburgh. He sat out the second game as the Cards took an 11-2 lead. In the ninth, with a St. Louis runner on first and one out, the game was suspended. It will be finished Aug. 27. Everybody immediately wanted to know what will happen if Musial appears as a pinch-hitter during the little bit of play on Aug. 27. Will his record go on?

They turned, of course, to Seymour. A baseball record is only a piece of paper until Seymour enshrines it in his Little Red Book of Baseball. Therefore, his attitude on Musial is important.

• • •

"There is a three-man committee of baseball writers to handle such problems," Seymour says. "But there won't be any problem. Musial is too nice a guy to take any at bat in the game."

For 19 years, Seymour has been the closest thing to baseball's all-time statistician this side of an adding machine. To him, a baseball player is a name who hit .319 in the Sally League, stole 13 bases in the Eastern League, then made it big with a .312 average in the National.

"What do you say when you describe a baseball player?" Seymour demands. "He could be an international murderer, but the average guy starts off by giving his name and batting average, with homers and runs-batted-in.

"Then he'll talk about the murders. Unless the player has some important things — like doubles, triples and stolen bases — which should be brought up first."

In keeping with this, Seymour starts off each morning of his seven-day week by opening a paper on the subway and reading the box scores first. His lips move as he reads the agate type and then starts to figure out the player's new batting average in his mind. If Seymour has time before reaching his stop, he reads the stories.

Actually, he isn't strong on mental figuring. He makes liberal use of a calculator so that the guy next to you at the bar is telling the truth when he spouts that, say, Gil Hodges hit .249 in his first full year as a Brooklyn Dodger.

"We had a fellow here once," Seymour says, "who could do it all in his head. Bob Burger, he's a professor at Dartmouth College now, would stand around and do Eastern League batting averages for the week in his head. He never made a mistake. Why, when he took some sort of a test for a job with 50,000 others during the depression, he not only came out first but he caught two mistakes in the questions."

There isn't a baseball writer in the east who doesn't rely heavily on Seymour's knowledge of figures and past performances of players. While he claims there is little human interest in cold figures, the huge file of individual cards on ballplayers always tells something.

Name the ballplayer, from Class D up, and Seymour has something on him from his first time at bat until he retires.

ALL-STARS DROP 4-1 DECISION TO ALBION IN PONY LEAGUE TOURNAMENT

Jacksonville's Pony League All-Stars fell victim to four unearned runs Saturday afternoon to drop a 4-1 decision to Albion in the Pony League District Tournament at Taylorville.

The Albion crew journeyed about 170 miles to compete in the tourney and they made the most of the breaks that came their way to eliminate the Jacksonville entry.

Fred Curtis, who was tagged with the loss, checked the winners for two innings without any runs on one hit. Then, with two outs in the top of the third inning, Fred ran into a little tough luck. Rister, the leadoff batter singled to right field, and scampered to third base when the ball got through the rightfielder for a two-base error. A passed ball brought Rister home with the leading tally.

Albion was shutout without a hit or a run in the fourth frame but came on strong in the fifth frame to ice the victory. Brown led off for Albion with an infield hit, stole second and moved to third when Howell's ground ball went for an error. Howell stole second to put runners on second and third with no one away. Brown scooted home with what proved to be the winning run on a passed ball and Howell took third. Rister walked and went to third when Curtis wild pitched, permitting Howell to score, and Rister scored on a fielder's choice to make the score 4-0, Albion's favor.

Jerry Stocker, who was injured in the seventh frame and had to leave the game, started off Jacksonville's fifth with a double to left field. Fred Curtis then singled sharply to right center to drive in Jacksonville's only tally of the game.

Jim Townsend, Albion chucker, and Curtis pitched great ball. Townsend was tough with men on and permitted only one walk and struck out seven. Curtis whiffed five and allowed one walk also. Townsend gave up four hits and Curtis was charged with six, one of which was an infield bloop that started Albion's three-run fifth.

Buhl's 5-2 Win Over Giants Gives Braves Firmer Grip On First

MILWAUKEE (AP) — A nine-hit pitching performance by Bob Buhl, who lost his chance at a second straight shutout in the ninth, produced a 5-2 victory over New York Saturday and a firmer grip on the National League lead for the Milwaukee Braves.

Buhl, hurling his 12th victory against six losses, had a 5-0 lead with two out in the ninth when an old teammate, Bobby Thomson, blasted a double to score Ray Jablonski and Daryl Spencer.

The game also marked the end of a streak for Red Schoendienst, stopping his consecutive game hitting streak at 23.

Milwaukee jumped off to an early lead and added to it steadily, scoring single runs in the first, third and fifth innings.

Purkey Notches 10th Win For Bucs, Hurls 4-2 Win Over Cards

ST LOUIS (AP) — Bob Purkey, Pittsburgh's sinker and knuckle ball specialist, gained his 10th victory Saturday with a steady eight-hit 4-2 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals.

The defeat dropped the second-place Cards a game and a half from first place Milwaukee.

The Pirates got to starter Murry Dickson for three runs in the second inning.

In the third Pittsburgh took a 4-0 lead when Bob Skinner doubled and scored on Mazeroski's single to Alvin Dark.

The Cardinals finally managed a run off Purkey in their half of the third. Don Blasingame rammed a triple to center and scooted home as Wally Moon beat out a bunt. The Cards picked up their second run in the seventh.

Patterson Remains 5-1 Favorite To Defeat Jackson Monday Night

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK, (AP)—Floyd Patterson remains a prohibitive 5-1 favorite to thump Tommy (Hurricane) Jackson, the No. 1 challenger, in his first defense of the world heavyweight boxing title Monday night at the Polo Grounds.

Because Patterson whipped Jackson in 12 rounds, despite a broken right hand, June 8, 1956, and already is lined up to defend again Aug. 22 at Seattle against Olympic champion Pete Rademacher, the champ is a near unanimous choice. In fact, one source offered 8-5 he would knock out the Hurricane.

The fact that Jackson is the top contender and Referee Harry Kessler voted for him in their first match set up this 15-round rematch. Patterson, at least five pounds heavier than he was a year ago, has been punching harder than ever at his Greenwood Lake, N. Y., training camp while Jackson, as usual, depends on conditioning, ability to take a punch and a peculiar flapping style that confuses the opposition.

For the first time in many years, the International Boxing Club is not promoting the heavyweight title bout. Emil Lence, a dress manufacturer with a boxing background has taken over as an independent promoter. Lence was hand picked by Cus D'Amato, Patterson's manager, after he split with the court-scarred IBC.

Lence says he expects a crowd of about 25,000 to pay over $300,000 to see the outdoor scrap with $125,000 already in the till from advance sales. More conservative estimates put the figure closer to $250,000, not counting the radio-TV cash.

No matter how much the show draws, Lence has a cushion of $175,000 to fall back on from the radio-TV sponsor. This would take care of the $175,000 guarantee he made to Patterson, who also has an option of 40 per cent of the gate. However, Jackson gets 20 per cent of the gate and TV cash.

The title fight, scheduled for 9 p. m. (EST) will be carried on network (NBC) radio and television. However, the New York area will be blacked out on TV. In the event of rain, the show would be set back to Tuesday night.

As usual, in these affairs, there is a rematch contract calling for a return in September, also at the Polo Grounds, in case Jackson should win.

Patterson, now 22, was the youngest ever to win the title when he stopped Archie Moore in Chicago last Nov. 30. Inactive since the championship bout, except for an exhibition tour, Patterson has not let himself get rusty. He has been in camp off and on all winter, spring and summer and boxed more than 125 rounds in the last six weeks.

A speed merchant with fast hands and an amateurish leaping style of attack in his earlier fights Patterson now plants himself solidly for heavy punching with both hands. If it is true that Jackson's only vulnerable spot is his body, then Patterson has been training for the right fight.

Jackson, 25, has been "boxing" since 1952 and has appeared in 35 fights for a 29-5-1 record. He has knocked out 13 opponents and was stopped once, by Nino Valdes, the Cuban giant, July 14, 1954. Hurricane's camp claimed that knockout, an automatic ruling by the referee under New York's decree that stops a fight after three knockdowns in one round, was a mistake. They said the third knockdown was a push.

Sievers Homers To Give Senators 6-5 Win Over A's

WASHINGTON (AP)—Roy Sievers slammed a two-run homer off Tom Gorman in the eighth inning to lift Washington to a 6-5 victory over Kansas City Saturday. Clint Courtney also homered for the Senators, who won their fourth in a row as the Athletics dropped their fifth straight.

WAYNE OSBORNE 1ST IN MIDWEST PUBLIC LINKS

CHICAGO (AP)—Wayne Osborne, Chicago radio announcer and former major league baseball pitcher, Saturday won the 30th annual Midwest Public Links Amateur Golf Tournament with a 72-hole score of 296, eight strokes over par for the Waveland course.

Osborne, who pitched for Pittsburgh in 1935 and was with both Brooklyn and the old Boston Braves in 1936, closed with a 73 to beat Mike Spinello by three strokes. Spinello, a Northern Illinois State College student, fired a final 75.

Allegheny College has had a soccer team since 1934.

Break Ground For $50,000 Field House

ON BATTLE WATCH

JOHN C. CONANT

ATLANTIC FLEET (FHTNC) —Standing a battle phone watch aboard the destroyer USS Gainard, is Midshipman 3/c. John C. Conant, son of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Conant of 814 W. College avenue, Jacksonville, Ill., a student at the University of Illinois.

He is on a summer training cruise to South America, Panama, and the Caribbean Sea.

More than 2,000 Naval Reserve Officer Training Corps midshipmen from 38 colleges and universities are on the six-week cruise, receiving on-the-job training in navigation, seamanship, engineering, and gunnery.

Liberty ports for the midshipmen were Valparaiso, Chile, July 3-8, and Panama, July 19-23. They will visit Guatenamo Bay, Cuba, and Culebra, Puerto Rico, July 25 to Aug. 1, for gunnery practice.

A permit to erect a $50,000 field house in the 400 block of Hardin avenue for the MacMurray College for Men, which will be founded in September, has been issued at the office of Building Inspector Lewis C. Gotschall.

The permit for the metal building, which will have a brick front, was issued to Hugh Gibson Building Contractor, Inc., on behalf of the college. The structure will be located on the east side of Hardin avenue, one block north of Blackstock House, the new men's dormitory, now under construction on Hardin avenue.

Ground for the new field house was broken Friday when Allan Brunk's drag-line removed the first shovels of earth.

The field house, to be located on the east side of Hardin avenue north of Routt street on college-owned land, will permit basketball and physical education programs to be inaugurated during the first year of the men's college. It is scheduled for completion within seven weeks.

The new field house, which will accommodate more than 1,000, will be of steel construction 100 feet wide and 136 in length, with red brick front on Hardin avenue to match the existing buildings on the campus.

Dr. Daniel W. Unruh, college athletic director, already has the 1957-58 basketball schedule completed.

In addition to one regulation basketball court, the field house will contain two practice courts criss-crossing it. These will be used for intramural athletics and physical education programs.

Giles Farmer, new residence on lot 6 Stocker & Forester addition, $10,000.

R. E. Murgatroyd, 526 Sandusky street, set trailer, $3,000.

Kenneth R. Jameson, new residence on lot 21 in Stocker & Forester addition, $23,000.

Donald W. Scott, 631 East Chambers street, fence, $50.

Paul V. Fussner, 615 Reid street, remove carport and place on side of house, $500.

Fair Harness Racing Card Schedules Four Strong Races Daily

An enlarged program awaits harness racing fans at this year's Morgan County Fair. Prize money has been advanced from $7,500 to $9,000 and there will be four races daily instead of the three race card offered here in previous years.

I. H. Thompson, superintendent, expects that owners and drivers will bring 55 to 60 head of race horses to the Jacksonville meet.

The assistant superintendent is Ellsworth Pires.

Red Woods of Jacksonville will have a pair of strong contenders at this year's billing, with a pair of 24 pacers: Mildred Direct and Way Yates. Both have done very well this year at Rushville, Carrollton, Jerseyville and Carlinville. They'll be racing today at the Fulton county fair in Lewiston.

Three Good Ones

Junior Winters of Carrollton will bring up three strong pacers, a two year old, a 24, and the well known three year old, Whistling Bill.

Thompson reports that the track is in excellent condition.

Frank Miller of Jerseyville will be the judge, and his wife, who is secretary of the Midwest Racing association, will serve as secretary of the three day program here. Announcer Sims of Rushville will be back this year and the starter will be Bolle Burns of Missouri.

At 1:30 p.m. Daily

Races will be held on next Thursday, Friday and Saturday afternoons, beginning at 1:30 p.m. daily.

The schedule follows:

To Mail Notices Of Property Valuation

Owners of commercial and industrial property in Morgan county will learn during the week of July 28 the 100% net sound value for their business, as reappraised by the J. M. Cleminshaw Company, which was engaged early this year to make an entire reappraisal of property.

Announcement was made yesterday by Chairman Ralph Heaton of the Morgan County Board of Commissioners, and Kohl Perbix, supervisor of assessments, that the tangible personal property valuation of commercial and industrial personal property has been completed. They said during the week of July 28 notices will be sent to 1,050 owners of such property, advising them of the results of reappraisal.

Edward L. Barlett of the Cleminshaw company said informal hearings will be held Aug. 5, 6, and 7 at reappraisal offices in the court house, for any owners of commercial and personal property who wish to discuss the valuations further.

The reappraisal of personal property is for the 1957 assessment payable in 1958.

County assessing officials will determine the percentage to be applied for the assessable value at a later date.

Tax officials said the notices to be mailed during the week of July 28 are not tax bills or notices of assessment, but are a statement of the 100% net sound value of the various businesses.

Barlett began his visits to commercial and industrial establishments last Feb. 23.

Real estate appraisers are still working in the county.

The commercial and industrial personal appraisal work is not to be confused with household personal taxes, the officials pointed out.

Faces Charge Of Assault With Deadly Weapon

Facing a warrant charging assault with a deadly weapon, George Wagner of the 1600 block Elmwood was released from the Morgan county jail yesterday afternoon under $5,000 bond, where he was taken early Saturday morning after several bullets from a rifle were fired into the screen door of his residence.

Wagner was arrested on complaint of his wife, a warrant having been sworn out in the court of Justice Charles Warzar. No date has been set for the hearing.

Both police and the sheriff's force were alerted to apprehend the defendant, who was arrested by sheriff's officers when he returned home.

Prisoners Help Police Construct New Building

JERSEYVILLE — Work is progressing on the new city police headquarters in the Pirtle Building on North State street, with most of the work being done by members of the force. A number of city prisoners were also working on the project.

Donations of furniture, lamps, etc., were being made by businessmen of the city for furnishing the new police headquarters, and the place will soon be ready for occupancy.

A new system of records will be set up by the police, including finger printing of prisoners held by the city and a case history of such individuals.

The importance of such records is frequently being demonstrated when other police and county officers other than this locality seek information regarding individuals from the Jerseyville vicinity who may be in custody elsewhere. Army, Navy and Air Force intelligence also visit here in quest of information regarding men in their respective branches of the armed forces who may be slated for advancement. Local records if any of such men are studied by such operatives of the various branches of the military service.

In the absence of detailed records, the armed forces operatives check the available records of Justice of the Peace, county court and circuit courts of the locality.

A RUGGED INDIVIDUALIST IS NOW 90 YEARS OLD

M. A. Heffner Lives Where He Was Born

Note: This article was written by A. C. Hart, tree lover and president of the Arenzville First National Bank. Since last Tuesday the farm editor has wrestled with the assumption that he could improve it. He now surrenders, and expresses hearty thanks to Mr. Hart.

"The price of walnut is actually down. I sold this tree for $400 but I would have gotten $250 for it 30 years ago."

The speaker was M. A. Heffner, 90 years of age on July 25.

While he spoke he was beside a beautiful log, freshly cut from one of the many trees on his farm about two miles "down the bluff" from Arenzville.

He explained the apparent contradiction in his remark by adding—"You see with our present 50c dollars I can buy less with the $400 today than I could have with the $250 before inflation started the slow process of robbing us all of our hard-earned savings.

"I don't think that we have seen the end of it yet either. Unless the American public stops trying to get 'something for nothing,' always expecting Uncle Sam to pick them up every time they think they fall down and demanding that the government should build them a dam, or a levee, or a hard road, or something, we will continue to get deeper and deeper in debt and inflation will get entirely out of hand.

"Folks just don't seem to realize that every dollar spent by the government is actually their own money returned to them after a big cut has been taken out to cover the cost of collecting and handling it."

Many Changes

Such profound comments might be expected from an economy-minded statesman such as Senator Byrd but coming from an aged "man of the soil," they seemed to take on a new and more impressive meaning.

Mr. Heffner or "Marius" as he is known to his friends and neighbors, was born on the farm where he now lives. He has lived through periods of hardship unknown to younger generation. He has watched his trees grow from saplings to sturdy monarchs, sought after by manufacturers of veneers to be used in the finest furniture. He has witnessed the gradual evolution of farming from the crude one-horse implements of the pioneer to the powerful and complicated tractor of today pulling efficient hydraulically controlled tools.

He has also seen the large five-cent loaf of bread gradually change to the beautifully wrapped, sliced loaf of today — for which the super-market charges 20c.

Educated

By present standards Mr. Heffner might not be considered an "educated" man. His formal education consisted of 10 days attendance at the near-by rural Burrus school, closed when Unit District No. 27 consolidated its teaching program, and now is used for grain storage by Carl Tiemann. However, he actually has a well rounded education, gained by self-application and many years of experience in the handling of his own affairs and that of others.

He has been involved in many complicated drainage problems where thousands of dollars were spread as assessments and where the State Supreme Court was the final authority as to "who was right." The figures of Mr. Heffner, laborously worked out by him on his modern comptometer, were found to be correct. He also possesses, and still uses, a pair of typewriters, regular and wide width, although his impaired vision now makes such tasks very difficult.

"I lost the sight of this eye while coon hunting on these very hills one night a number of years ago," said Marius as he briefly paused to rest while scaling steep embankment in the vicinity of the $400 tree.

"Poked a twig in my eye and it must have gotten infected. I can still see well enough to shoot, though, although not as well as I used to. Then, too, these hills seem a bit steeper than they did when I was a boy, so I don't hunt much anymore."

House Built In 1884

Marius lives with his slightly younger sister, Phoebe, 87, in the well-weathered house built in 1884 by he and his father. Nearby stands a portion of the log house constructed by Grandfather Bailey in 1860.

A letter of that year, from Mr. Bailey to "Joseph Heffner," then foreman in the Ladd Patrick Company (wagon makers of St. Louis), refers to the building of this house and also to "Springvalley" the adjoining farm, now owned by Albert Witte, of Arenzville. Mr. Bailey was a millwright and built many grist mills in this area.

He first settled in Scott Co. in 1820 coming to Morgan and entered the East ½ of Section 2, Twp. 16-12 in 1828.

He once said that there were only three houses in Jacksonville when he first visited it.

Two grandparents and the father and mother are buried in the family burial plot on top of one of the loess bluffs just south of the homesite.

A Machinist

Among many other prized possessions Mr. Heffner has is a well preserved copy of the Sept. 1915 "American Machinist" in which is published an article written by him entitled "How I Use The American Machinist." Then in his prime, Marius did much intricate repair work in his well equipped shop.

"When we needed anything we generally studied it carefully in the store window or catalogue and then made it, whether it was wooden or iron," muses Marius. "In those days we didn't spend much money—even though the dollar would buy a lot more than now."

Although an expert machinist by training, Marius did not do repair work because of preference. In his youth he wanted to become an artist. He spent many hours drawing the beautiful wild flowers that surrounded his home and then painting them in their natural colors.

"One day my Uncle Sam Bailey was over for a visit," reminisced Marius, "and he took all of my pictures back with him to Franklin county and I have never seen them since."

And He Leaves Something

Oak wilt has forever removed many of the fine trees in the Heffner timber but the walnut, the ash, the hard maples, the linn and the other species remaining, with their undergrowth of pawpaw and redbud, make an impressive sight at any time of the year. The community surrounding should be grateful to the Heffners for so well preserving this rare area of virtually virgin forest.

Anyone who knows of soybean fields where the dangerous soybean cyst nematode might be suspected should contact his farm adviser, but should not take samples of soil and plants himself.

MARIUS A. HEFFNER of Ash Hollow west of Arenzville is shown with a walnut log he sold recently for $400. He estimated that the tree was 150 years old, and that inflation has lowered its value, and he speculates on how a young walnut sapling will find things in the U.S.A. when it comes to maturity.

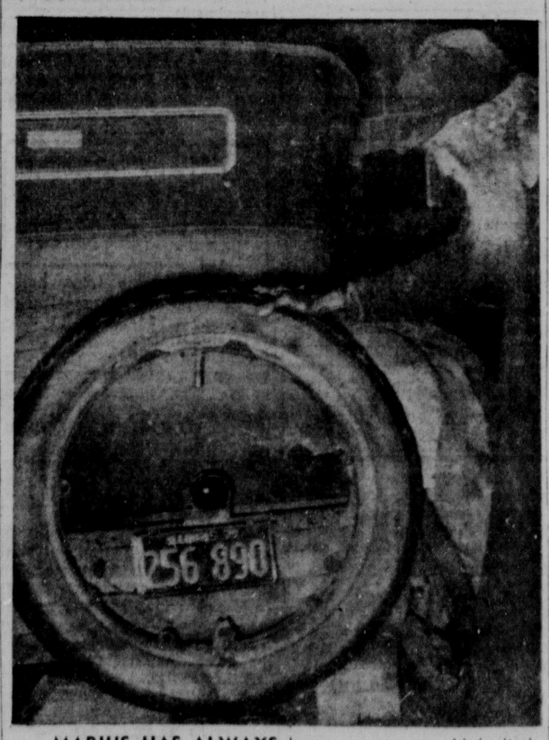

Heffner is a highly "educated" man although he went to school only 10 days. His health was frail in those days, he relates.

"Uncle Sam Bailey said my folks would never raise me. My grandmother couldn't read, so my mother subscribed to the N. Y. Herald. It was a fine, clean paper and carried continued stories. My mother would read to us. One day she said, 'No more reading.' I wanted to know how the stories came out, and so did my grandmother, and so it was a straight 'groundhog case.' I learned to read, and have enjoyed it greatly ever since."

HEFFNER LOVED to range and hunt in the nearby hills. He's shown with a descendant of one of his favorite hounds and a pistol made in France that was owned by his Grandfather Bailey. In it the cartridges had a firing pin on the top — not in the center nor at the rim. He owns many new pistols, and claims the German 9 mm. P-38 is the best of them all.

MARIUS HAS ALWAYS been a swapper. He's little interested in cash transactions.

He doesn't contribute his health at 90 to anything, but he hints that most men die from worry, drink and smoking. He detests liquor and tobacco — and he's a bachelor.

Illinois Farmers Outlook Letter

LESS CORN, MORE OTHER FEED GRAINS

Total crop production this year appears likely to fall about 7 per cent under last year's record output. This forecast was made recently by the United States Department of Agriculture.

The total acreage planted to crops was reduced about 3 per cent, but crop abandonment will be much less than last year, when extreme drouth blasted the Great Plains. Consequently, the acreage to be harvested this year may equal that harvested in 1956. Lower yields of corn in central and southern Illinois and other over soaked areas are the biggest factor in trimming over-all production.

In general, crop prospects are unusually good this year with two exceptions: (1) excessive rainfall damaged or destroyed crops over a large fan-shaped area, including central and southern Illinois and nearby areas and spreading out to the south and southwest to Mississippi, Louisiana and northern Texas; and (2) drouth injured crops in a narrow band along the Atlantic coast from North Carolina to Massachusetts.

Soil Bank Acres

Although about 28 million acres were signed up for soil bank payments, the total planted acreage has been reduced only 21 million since the program began.

Acerages planted to sorghums and barley were increased substantially. The planted acreage of sorghum was boosted from 21.5 million in 1956 to 27.1 million this year. The acreage of barley was increased from 14.7 million to 16.3 million.

Who Programs Hurt

Much of the increase in the acreages of these grains occurred in the Great Plains, where summer fallowing is practiced. Farmers cut their wheat acreage and designated their fallow land for the soil bank. Much of the land taken out of wheat was planted to sorghum and barley. This is another example of the way farm programs have worked to the disadvantage of the feed producer in the Corn Belt.

The acreage of sorghum to be harvested this year is officially estimated at 23.6 million, or 49 per cent more than last year. Increases in sorghum acreage by states are: Nebraska, 98 per cent; Kansas, 93 per cent; and Texas (the leading producer), 27 per cent.

The reduced crop production this year will not make a big dent in the surpluses. About 10 per cent of the 1956 corn crop is being added to the carryover this year. The official forecast of the 1957 crop is 15 per cent smaller than the 1956 crop, but much of this reduction will be offset by greater production of barley, sorghum and oats. Total wheat production appears likely to be nearly equal to the total amount that will be used and exported, making little change in carryover next year. There is as yet no forecast of the 1957 cotton crop. Production may be down from last year's figures, but exports also may be smaller.

This Week.. at Dixon Springs

DIXON SPRINGS—The surest way of having your sheep gain well on pasture is to have them free of parasites, reports M. E. Mansfield, veterinarian at the Dixon Springs Experiment Station. Phenothiazine is available to all sheep men for controlling stomach worms, he points out.

Even though ewes were drenched when going onto pasture in the spring, some check on parasites should be made now. Mansfield says it is possible that stomach worms have built up in both ewes and lambs since the spring drenching.

May Be The Reason

If your lambs have not already reached market weight, parasites may be the reason, the veterinarian points out. Failure to gain weight, shabby appearance of fleece, diarrhea, weakness and occasional death are all evidence of a build-up of parasites.

Since it is only a short time until breeding season, it's a good time to get ewes into good condition for next year's lamb crop. The ram should also be checked to see that he is free of parasites and in good condition.

Medicated Salt Advised

Mansfield says a phenothiazine drench will remove most stomach worms, but it can't be expected to remove all of them. To prevent the larval worms from increasing on pasture, he suggests keeping a one to ten mixture of phenothiazine and salt before the animals at all times. Pasture rotation will also help to reduce summer build-up of parasites.

Controlling stomach worms now is one of the steps to planning for a good lamb crop next winter and an aid in getting remaining lambs off to market, the veterinarian concludes.

New Berlin Club Plans Flower Show Sept. 6

NEW BERLIN — The Garden Committee of the New Berlin Woman's club held its first meeting on Monday afternoon with Mrs. W. K. Dunlap. Mrs. Dunlap and Miss Elizabeth Brehm are co-chairmen of the committee.

Plans were made for the flower show which will be held the first meeting of the club season, on September 6. The theme of the show this year will be "Melody Of Flowers." The public is invited to participate in the show. A schedule of entries by classes will be published at a later date.

Members of the committee are, in addition to the chairman, Mrs. Robert Marr, Mrs. Walter James, Mrs. Glen Suttles, Mrs. Henry Hughs, Mrs. William Reed and Mrs. Otto Braner. Mrs. M. B. Summers, club president, also met with the committee.

Chest X-Ray

The Sangamon County Tuberculosis association is again sponsoring a chest X-ray survey in cooperation with the Illinois State Health Department, division of tuberculosis control.

The unit will be located in the rural areas, and will be in New Berlin on Monday, Aug. 5, from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. and from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m.

Every adult is urged to take advantage of this opportunity to have a chest X-ray.

The film is developed and interpreted, and the report sent to each person having the X-ray taken.

4-H Club Activities

The Chapin Top Notchers Girls 4-H club held a recent meeting at the high school. The pledge of allegiance was led by Carolyn Criss. Group singing was led by Marilyn Schumacher. Roll call was answered by naming favorite movie stars. The minutes were read and approved.

It was decided that our local achievement would be July 29.

The following talks were given: "Joining a Skirt and Blouse," Phyllis Wilder; "How to Put In a Hem," Shirley Fricke; "Attach a Band to the Skirt," Laura Mueller, and "Prevent Hazards," Crissie Cully. Barbara Schroeder gave a demonstration on "How to Shrink Cloth."

Poems were read by Carolyn Criss and Vickie Bauser. A piano solo was played by Crissie Cully.

The club then enjoyed recreation led by Carolyn Lael.

CHAPIN — The Chapin Top Notchers Girls 4-H club held a meeting July 11 at the high school. The meeting opened with the pledge of allegiance led by Sandra Aufdenkamp. Roll call was answered by "How I am Progressing With My Project."

It was announced that a food sale would be held July 20 at the Legion Hall.

The following talks were given: "How to Set the Table," Elizabeth Bauser; "Eight Steps in Using Your Freezer," Jackie Shepard; "Design In Cloth," Janet Schumacher, and "Burns," Barbara Schroeder.

The meeting closed with the 4-H pledge led by Laura Mueller.

MRS. BAIN HOSTESS FOR PATTERSON DEMONSTRATION

Those present were Mrs. Lelia Goacher, Mrs. Nadine Klingele, Mrs. Doris Todd and Mrs. Mary Hart of Roodhouse, Mrs. Dorothy Fry, Mrs. Clarence Goodall, Mrs. Bertha Nicholson, Mrs. Juanita Rollins, Mrs. Phyllis Dawdy, Mrs. Laura Dawdy, Mrs. Ruby Pence, Mrs. Mildred Wilkinson and Mrs. June Bain, all of Patterson, and a number of children.

A number of games were conducted with prizes for the winners. Mrs. Lelia Goacher was awarded the door prize, which was a dollar's worth of merchandise.

CARROLLTON

CARROLLTON—Dr. and Mrs. Walter Wiggins and children of Riverside arrived Tuesday to spend the remainder of the week with Mrs. Wiggins' parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. Bowman.

Mrs. J. M. Widdowson underwent surgery Tuesday in Barnes Hospital in St. Louis.

BLUFFS

BLUFFS—Mrs. Frances Comerford is visiting her brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Meehan. Other guests at the Meehan home this week include Mrs. George Mathews and daughter, Juliann of Wheeling, Miss Susan Gregory of Jacksonville. Other members of the Comerford family are expected to join the family in Bluffs Saturday.

DETASSELING WAYS — OLD AND NEW

TO PRODUCE HYBRID seed corn you still have to pull out, destroy, the tassels of the female plants before they begin shedding pollen. Plant scientists are trying to end this meticulous task by the development of sterile plants and they report some progress, but detasseling by hand is still the rule.

It's a hot and bothersome job. In fact, just walking down the rows of tall corn all day long is mighty fierce work.

About nine years ago the first detasseling machines came out. They were a vast improvement. High arched frames on rubber wheels support narrow platforms. Six boys ride on the platforms as the machine inches down the rows and they pluck out the tassels as they come by. A seven-horse gasoline engine pushes the machine along at the rate of a half-mile an hour when the "pull is heavy," and faster when the "pull is light." The work is much easier and, best of all, the operators are up where they can get some air.

Last week Robert McAllister, Concord teacher, and his boys were plucking tassels from the Carleton Schumacher hybrid seed field northeast of Chapin. Schumacher is sales manager of Burrus Brothers & Associated Growers Seed company of Arenzville.

When they got to the end Arlo Schumacher showed them how "We used to do it." He produced two pairs of weird looking stilts, 16 inches high. They were invented about 16 years ago by Elmer Sudbrink of Virginia. He's still a Burrus Associated Grower, and also pretty short, so he invented the stilts which were speedily adopted by even tall boys. The Burrus firm still has about 200 sets of stilts stored away, but hope they'll never be used again.

The contraptions were made of pine by the Crawford Lumber company of Jacksonville and Floyd Robinson, then of Alexander and now living in Springfield.

Arlo put on a pair and showed the boys how they worked. Tony Crews thought he'd like to try them. The photographer asked for a picture before Tony tried to travel. After the camera clicked, Tony went about three steps and fell flat on his face. McAllister helped him up with the sympathetic words, "I used to keep busy helping boys get back on their stilts." Tony took another three steps and flat on his face again.

Schmink, 17, was virtually "farmed out" this summer. He's a city boy who wants to enroll in Essex County Agricultural school at Danvers, Mass., this fall. The dean of the school told him he'd have to spend the summer working on some farm and so Schmink came to Illinois to see his uncle, H. P. Joy of Chapin, and to work on the farm of his second cousin, Robert Joy.

Schmink says he got interested in agriculture when he visited the Joy farms three years ago.

"We live in Winchester, Mass., and have a summer home at Rockport," he said. "At Rockport we have a garden and we raise some vegetables and flowers. But there's no real farm, as you know it, close to us."

Essex Ag is a two year school. Next summer Schmink will be working on a farm in Vermont. At the end of two years he must choose another school. Right now he is thinking about the University of Massachusetts, and maybe the University of Illinois.

Also, right now, he feels little interest in livestock and much more interest in crops. He thinks he'd like to be a farm manager of a large grain farm, specializing in the production of new crop varieties—or a grain farm of his own.

Just to show how things go this has been the first stretch of time that he has been away from his twin-brother, Bill. Bill has his eyes set on the radio-TV field.

Morgan Junior Fair Spotlights Importance Of Agriculture

The Morgan County Agricultural Junior Fair opening in this city Wednesday will reaffirm and emphasize the importance of agriculture in this community's economy.

Although education and manufacturing are among Jacksonville's foremost trademarks, the fertile soil that extends far beyond the horizon from it in all directions is the basic force that keeps thousands of persons busy, well-fed, and prosperous.

Morgan county soil is naturally rich, responsive to cultivation if given a chance. Modern farm methods and farmers have supplied the know-how to get the most from it. This is a combination that from year to year keeps the Morgan county area in the forefront as a progressive agricultural center.

Whether you live in the country or in town, visit the fair during its five day stand, July 31-August 4. The best in grains, livestock, culinary and household arts, will be prominently displayed. Newest advances in the art of comfort and modern living will be found in the merchants' exposition tents.

On the track there will be thrilling horse races, with horse shows and other entertainment at night. The midway will provide diversion that has attracted young and old at county fairs for many generations.

"Fair Week" is always a period of more than usual activity and interest. The 1957 fair promises to set new standards in both.

A Merited Citation

Last fall, in one of the most celebrated ocean ditchings in aviation history, a huge Pan American Stratocruiser was set down in mid-Pacific beside a weather ship. Within 17 minutes all passengers and crew were aboard the vessel, and three minutes later the plane sank.

It was recognized at the time for what it was—a rare feat of skill and intelligence on the part of the crew, and a remarkably cooperative rescue effort on the part of the men of the weather ship.

Now their heroism has gained formal recognition from the Civil Aeronautics Board, which praises both crews in its report on the accident.

It credits the plane crew with averting a major air disaster by its "calm and efficient control of the situation." It particularly commended the pilot and his aids for diagnosing the ailments which unhappily struck two of the plane's four engines as it headed from Hawaii to San Francisco.

In the board's view, the crew acted with model efficiency at every stage of the difficult and dangerous ditching operation. And it was fully mindful of the superb help given by the sailors aboard the Coast Guard cutter Pontchartrain.

Such commendations are not only deserved, but wisely offered as an encouragement to others to deal similarly with emergencies of this character.

Social Crush—Green's Collapse—Work Load—Parties—Das Laudenboomer—Silly Season

BY DOUGLAS LARSEN,
NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON —(NEA)— Ike and Mamie are pretty adept at resisting social pressures and doing what they want with their spare time. But when they hit flossy Newport, R. I., for their vacation they'll be subjected to some of the toughest social pressure that exists in the U. S.

The fabulously wealthy Newport socialite and hostess, Mrs. George Henry Warren, for example, is already planning an elaborate affair for the Eisenhowers. Mrs. Warren is president of the Newport Preservation Society, a group dedicated to restoring some of the famous old mansions there and making it a second colonial Williamsburg.

Another nationally ranked Newport hostess is Mrs. Sheldon Whitehouse. She is also planning a "do" for the President and First Lady.

It's a lead pipe cinch that Ike will get plenty of gold with famed, wealthy railroader Bob Young, who has a modest $100,000 shack up there. Bob's sister-in-law is famed artist Georgia O'Keefe, by the way, who'll probably be visiting the Youngs then. It'll give Ike and Georgia a chance to talk art.

This will be a real test for Washington hostess Perle Mesta who has just opened her house in Newport. So far Perle has never produced Ike and Mamie at a party. This may be her chance.

HERE'S THE INSIDE story of what caused the 89-year-old Sen. Theodore Francis Green (D-R.I.) to collapse at a Pakistan Embassy party, reported by him to a close friend:

The three previous days he had missed his regular workout at the Senate gym which includes bar-bell exercises, pushups and standing sprints. "So I was just out of shape," he explained.

THIS PROVES how hard the House of Representatives is working to wind up the session and get out of town:

Other day Rep. Brooks Hays (D-Ark.) made a speech condemning the practice of members putting their feet on the chairs in front of them. This was followed by a debate on the ethics of Congressmen reading newspapers while other members spoke.

Few days later the House became embroiled in debate over the proper way to address female members. Should it be "gentlewoman" or "lady?" There was no agreement.

Some time later Rep. Bill Widnall (R-N.J.) raised the question of why the bells in the House, which call members to vote, were so much more shrill than the bells which summon senators to votes.

And so goes our legislative process.

IN MID-SUMMER the character of embassy partying changes from big receptions to smaller, fun-type affairs. Such a one was thrown the other evening for the departing Dutch military attache, Col. G. D. van Eppen and his wife.

Cohostesses were a couple of the most glamorous attache wives in town, Mrs. Ralph Pargas of the Philippine embassy and Mrs. Alex Kawilarang from the Indonesian embassy.

Mrs. Kawilarang spent the afternoon over a hot stove preparing panggang ketyap for the party. That's rock fish cooked in soy sauce, white perrer and garlic.

Mrs. Pargas whipped up a batch of fresh lumpia. That's a mixture of bamboo shoots, water chestnuts, ham, pork and chicken all wrapped in pieces of thin dough and served with fiery sauce.

In Hollywood

By JACK LEFLER
(For Bob Thomas)

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—There is still a lot of new adventure to be squeezed out of this world, says television's Jack Douglas.

He's done a lot of squeezing himself in nearly 200 films of the "I Search for Adventure" series, which goes into its fourth year next week.

But, he says, the surface has barely been tapped.

To emphasize, he came up—with practically no prodding at all —with a list of what he considers the world's 10 greatest unfilmed adventures.

Some of these have been filmed with still cameras and some by governmental organizations, but there have been no motion pictures of them seen by the public as far as Douglas knows.

1. Life on Pitcairn Island among the descendants of the men who staged the mutiny on the Bounty.
2. Ascent to the rim of Mt. Izalco in El Salvador. This volcano has been erupting every 15 minutes for 175 years.
3. A North Pole-to-South Pole airplane flight.
4. Underwater exploration of the Sea of Galilee and the Dead Sea.
5. Exploration of the vast French caves in the south of France.
6. Exploration of the top of Devil's Mountain in Venezuela which was the locale of Arthur Conan Doyle's book, "Lost World."
7. A voyage through the Northwest Passage.
8 Climbing Mt. Kilimanjaro in Africa.
9. Exploring the Afghanistan Jungle, the meanest and least-known jungle in the world.
10. Life with a Gypsy caravan in Spain or France.

"I'd just about give my right leg to get any three on that list," says Douglas.

But, he's not about to finance any expeditions to get them.

"That isn't the way we handle the program," Douglas explains. "Our films come from amateurs and in that way we are able to maintain the personal touch on which our appeal is based."

The World Today

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—If President Eisenhower had lifted a finger to fight for the federal aid to education bill, it seems certain he could have saved it. At the showdown he sat silent although he had been calling for federal aid since 1953.

The result: A majority of his Republicans did Thursday exactly what they did last year. They teamed up with Southern Democrats to kill the bill in the House. Republicans who favored the bill are sore at Eisenhower's performance.

If three Republicans had switched their votes, the bill would have been saved. The vote was 208 to kill it, 203 to save it.

Eisenhower not only didn't plug for the bill. He indirectly gave support to those who wanted to demolish it by letting it be known that, while he'd sign the bill if it passed, he wasn't satisfied with it.

The Republican majority tactics Thursday were like an encore of their act in 1956 when a similar bill was before the House:

First, they joined Northern Democrats in voting an antisegregation amendment into the bill—withholding federal money from segregated schools — and then switched over to join Southern Democrats in killing the measure altogether.

Two of the three top Republicans in the House voted to kill the bill last year and again Thursday. They were Representatives Charles Halleck (Ind), assistant Republican leader, and Leslie Arends (Ill), Republican whip.

Rep. Joseph Martin (Mass), the No. 1 Republican in the House, voted for the bill Thursday as he did in 1956.

Eisenhower, since 1953, has repeatedly called for some kind of federal aid to get schools built. He has urged action both in his State of the Union messages and in special messages to Congress. The Republican campaign platform of 1956 called for federal aid to schools.

While the bill which went before the House this year was not exactly the kind Eisenhower wanted, it was the only one which had a chance of passage this year.

This is an example of how some help from Eisenhower might have saved the bill, if it only took the form of a brief message to the House or pressure on no more than three leading House Republicans: Halleck, Arends and Rep. Edward Rees (Kan).

While the final vote to kill the bill was 208-203, during the roll call Rees voted for the bill. Before the final tally he changed his vote to "no." Rees is a veteran of 20 years in the House.

Thursday for the amendment, 136. Against, 105. Unlike the 1956 roll-call vote, Thursday's vote was a standing one which did not list the members by name.

But reporters who cover the House every day and recognize the members by sight said the lineup for the antisegregation amendment was the same as last year: Republicans and Northern Democrats.

1956 — 119 Republicans and 105 Democrats (total, 224) voted to kill the bill. (In the House the 11 Southern states have 106 seats.) Voting for the bill were 75 Republicans (compared with the 148 Republicans who voted for the antisegregation amendment) and 119 Democrats (compared with 77 Democrats who voted for the amendment).

Thursday—111 Republicans and 97 Democrats (87 of whom were from the South)—for a total of 208 voted to kill the bill. Voting to save it were 77 Republicans and 126 Democrats (total, 203).

A Glance Into The Past

10 YEARS AGO

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Leitze of Glasgow marked their 57th wedding anniversary.

20 YEARS AGO

50 YEARS AGO

The Municipal Stadium of Cleveland, Ohio, has the largest seating capacity (73,500) of any major league baseball stadium.

Retirement's Time To Grow a Mustache

BY BEULAH STOWE

"Retirement is the time to roll your own cigarettes, grow a mustache if you want to, and stop worrying about conforming to other people's opinions of what you ought to be.

Kimball is 69, retired four years ago, and says he has now recovered from the initial shock of relative inactivity. He and his wife live in a small town in the mountains of Tennessee, quiet for part of the year, gay during the tourist season. They have a two-bedroom brick house and they like company.

I asked Kimball if they did much traveling.

"No. We don't travel much, because the prices hit us too hard," he answered. "When we travel, we like to travel right. I would rather spend three 'expensive' days than three weeks of 'cheap' days. Just three days of sunshine beside a lozenge-shaped pool and three dinners served with a flourish are worth more to me than a prolonged dose of hot dogs over a camp stove and pricing motels every night before we stop. Fortunately, my wife feels the same way."

Mrs. Kimbell, who seemed to be the sort of woman who would like whatever came along—maybe even the camp stove—offered her own view of retirement:

Her job has been to help her husband adjust to those 362 days a year when they can't afford to travel. They have made the adjustment by planning and sharing. Kimball gets breakfast, Mrs. K. prepares lunch, Mr. K. sits on a kitchen stool and reads items from the newspaper aloud while Mrs. K. prepares dinner. Together they refinish old furniture and sand and wax handmade wood items (by Mr. K.) for sale in local shops catering to the tourist trade.

WEEKLY BIBLE COMMENT

They Were Few—But Mighty

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D.D.

On this date many Sunday schools will be studying a lesson about Gideon and his small band of warriors.

But I should like to write a little about another band, much smaller, but quite as amazing in faith and courage.

I refer to the Pilgrim Fathers, who came to Plymouth on the little ship, "The Mayflower," in 1620. Actually, these Pilgrims were not "fathers."

For, like many religious movements, and like that of Jesus and His disciples, the Pilgrims of the Mayflower were young people, and a tragic fact is that within a year of their coming to New England half of the 102 died.

A glorious fact is that, despite all the perils and hardships, when the survivors had a chance to return to England not one went back.

In the Boston area, where I have lived for many years, the chief interest and excitement recently has been concerned with the coming to Plymouth of the Mayflower II, a replica of the original Mayflower, which, after a summer of exhibition in New York, will be returned to Plymouth for a permanent berth to commemorate and restore something of the original coming of the Pilgrims.

One would not detract from the glory of this enterprise, or from the achievement of Captain Villiers and his crew in bringing the little ship across the Atlantic.

What was that faith and fellowship that made those Pilgrims first leave their native England for Leyden in Holland, and then risk the perils of ocean and a hostile shore, that they might still be Englishmen?

It was simply a belief that there could be religious faith and fellowship through direct contact with Christ and the New Testament, without the intermediary or authority of either Pope or King.

He did harry them as exiles to Holland, but they were Englishmen as well as Christians, and they sought to bring up their families as Englishmen.

The deep spiritual significance of the Plymouth Pilgrims was the directness of their approach to Jesus and the New Testament.

They were independents in this respect, in contrast with the Puritans, who were not opposed to a state church, and whose association with church and state brought persecution against Quakers and Baptists.

Trends today toward greatness and size and mergers are as evident in the churches as in other areas. Such trends are good insofar as they eliminate narrow and sectarian divisions, but they tend toward overemphasis upon authority and official control.

What the Plymouth Pilgrims emphasized is that the true church of Christ does not consist in size or authority, but that where two or three are gathered together with Christ in the midst there is the element of a true Christian church.

THOROUGH THIEF

NEWTON, Kan. (AP)—Someone did a thorough stripping job on the 1957 car of the Rev. Noah Unruh of Ford, Kan., parked in his brother's garage.

Items taken, police reported, were the radio, hub caps, mirrors, spotlight, cigarette lighter, fender skirts, a pair of binoculars, two billfolds with $35 in cash—and the car keys.

HELPLESS LIZARD

Most helpless of all lizards is the blind worm, or slow worm, which does not possess any legs and looks like a snake. It is neither blind, slow nor a worm. It has small, bright eyes, equipped with eyelids, and can move very quickly on occasion.

American Menu

Pride of Merchant Fleet Offers Finest in Eating

BY GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

On a torrid New York day, we escaped into the cool and handsome dining saloon of the S.S. United States, docked in the Hudson River.

En route to Europe on this blue-ribbon pride of our American merchant fleet, the summer vacationist will find such temptations as these:

The chef of this great ship has other suggestions, too: smoked ox tongue with corn salad; corned brisket of beef, creamed horseradish and cole slaw; Westphalian ham with asparagus salad and breast of turkey and baked Yorkshire ham with fresh fruit salad.

Applesauce Souffle (Serves 4)

Separate 10 eggs: Beat the whites until stiff. Add 8 tablespoonfuls granulated sugar, beat for 5 minutes, then add 4 teaspoons applesauce. Butter souffle dish and dust with granulated sugar. Put 3 tablespoons applesauce into bottom of souffle dish, then pour in the souffle mixture. Stand dish in pan of hot water. Bake in hot oven (400 degrees F.) for 15 minutes. Serve immediately with whipped cream.

MONDAY'S DINNER: Cold sliced white meat of turkey and baked ham, fresh corn salad, parsley new potatoes, warm rolls, butter or margarine, S.S. United States applesauce souffle, coffee, tea, milk.

SAY IT ISN'T SO—Kathleen Anne Moore, 10 months, of Wichita, Kans., looks as if she wants someone to say it's not true that boys "don't make passes at girls who wear glasses." She reputedly is the nation's youngest to wear glasses. She was fitted with plastic lenses to relieve an eye condition due to a blood clot.

Glasgow 6 Year Old Given Party

Guests were Sandra and Mary Rogers, Kathy Clark, Brenda McEvers, Connie Drake, Connie Bishop, Paula Fay Shepherd, Johnna Albers, Mary Linda Haggard, Kathy and Brenda Evans. Regina Thomas was unable to attend.

Karen Sue received many nice gifts. Others present included Mrs. Laverne Albers, Jeffry and Mark, Mrs. Evelyn Haggard and Priscilla, Mrs. Leona McEvers and Debbie, Mrs. Eilene Shepherd, Mrs. Tamsy Shepherd and Mrs. Mable Simmons.

George Leitzes Hosts At Dinner

Mr. and Mrs. George Leitze entertained with a Sunday picnic dinner on the lawn at their home the following guests: Rev. and Mrs. Darrell Malcom and daughters, Jean and Deborah of Pittsfield, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Hammon, Mrs. Artie Evans, Mr. and Mrs. William Hammon and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Meyer and daughter, Kathryn, of Alton.

Personals

Mrs. Clarence Varvel entered Passavant Area Hospital, Jacksonville, Wednesday for X-ray after suffering a fall while in Winchester, returning home the same evening. There were no fractures.

Mrs. Lee Cooper was dismissed from Passavant Hospital on Tuesday, July 23, to her home in Winchester.

Mrs. Letha Blair is visiting at her home since Wednesday evening.

More drawings next Sunday so keep watching for yours and for those of your friends.

The Grandma Fairy

By Melma Huckeby Ewert

Part 1: Hunt For Fairy

"There is a sure enough Grandma Fairy," Karmin Jeanne told her play-party friends, "There is, because Grandmother told me. Grandma Hobble-Gobble is sure enough!"

"Let's all go and find her when it is a pretty Saturday," one of the boys suggested, "We'll meet at your house Karmin Jeanne."

"Bye now!" "Bye!"

On the very next Saturday afternoon six little girls went to a party. They tripped through the meadow up a hill-side, across the stepping-stones of a bubbling brooklet and came to a green-wood forest.

When the six little boys saw the six little girls, and the six little girls saw the six little boys, they each ran to another and all took hands and began dancing in a great circle, singing.

"Granrma Hobble-gobble! What shall we do Ma'am?"

Out Steps Fairy

A quaint, bent, little grandma-fairy came through a clump of May-apples, growing like a grove of little green umbrellas. Right from under a little May-apple-umbrella, stepped Grandma Hobble-gobble herself!

Grandma Hobble-gobble led them on through yellow butter-cups; on through a patch of wild violets, yellow and white and purple. On and on she hobbled through a grass-land of sky blue sweet-williams.

Knocks 3 Times

"Walk this way just like I do dears," she sang.

They followed her into a cave-room as grey as a rainy day. But Grandma Hobble-gobble didn't tarry there.

She led them into a room of blue. As blue as they sky at noon day. But Grandma Hobble-gobble didn't tarry there.

She led them into a room as red as a summer's sunset; on into a room as green as the forest; on into a room as silver as a cloud's lining.

The Silver Room

Each child was holding another's hand; and "Oh!" "Ah!" ran round the line like an echo, beginning at one end and ending at the other as they stood staring at clusters of twinkling stars on all the walls and upon the low ceiling.

Grandma Hobble-gobble sang, "Now we shall have our party, now we shall have our party, dears!" She strolled noiselessly through her sparkling room and seated herself upon a gleaming throne of rock-crystal.

Choose Baskets

They all circled around Grandma Hobble-gobble singing, "Garndma Hobble-gobble what shall we do Ma'am?"

"Fill your baskets with the golden stars dears. And to the child that the lucky star finds, A prize shall be given," sang Grandma Hobble-gobble.

Every little girl and every little boy ran about reaching for a star. And when a star was placed in a basket it became a soft yellow gold flower that sparkled.

Children Quarrel

By the time all the stars were gathered, every little boy and every little girl had been cross at least once, except Karmin Jeanne.

Prettier than the other

Like To Write?

Do you like to write poems, stories, letters about what you are doing this summer?

I'm sure many of you do, and we like to receive these things you write to be printed on your Junior page.

Just remember that—like your drawings—whatever you write to send in must be all your very own, not copied from something you have read.

If you read a book or poem and want to tell others about it so that they can read it that is alright (we call that a book review). But, if you write about what you have read be sure and tell us the title (name) of the book and the name of the author as well as your own name, address and age and what you thought about the book.

We'll be looking for your drawings and stories—all your own work, remember.

First Ladies Of The White House

By Mabel Hall Goltra

Part 1: Early Days

So little, comparatively, has been written about the first, First Ladies of the White House customs and costumes in the early days before radios and television sets were thought of.

What did the ladies wear when George Washington wore a coat and breeches of black velvet with white or pearl colored silk vest, kid gloves, a cocked hat, silver knee and shoe buckles and a sword with glittering steel hilt and scabbard of white leather?

Martha Washington dressed very simply, in keeping with those strenuous times, and wore a plain cap over her grey hair, although she had the advantage of wealth and high social position before her marriage to George Washington. Often, when George came home from his official duties, Martha would remind him to remove his good clothes to save them..

Abigail Smith Adams, wife of our second President John Adams, wore beautiful satin gowns, becoming lace head dresses and excellent pearls. Hoops were in vogue and high heeled shoes with silk stockings. Hair - dressers were in demand and it took at least four hours for the ladies to have their hair "crisped" (curled).

Chooses Mrs. Madison

On March 4th, 1801, when Thomas Jefferson, a widower, became third President of the United States he called on Dolly Madison, wife of the secretary of state, to become official hostess of the White House. She chose to be called by that name which suited her very well.

She wore many jewels and wore amazing turbans over her many curls, but she wore a plain cambric gown with a very long train. Her head dresses were her great delight and took the place of a crown.

Sometimes her turbans cost $1,000 a year during the 50 years that she ruled Washington society. (She continued to be First Lady when her husband followed Jefferson as president).

Elizabeth Kort Monroe, wife of the fifth president, James Monroe, wore a black velvet gown and an elegant necklace of pearls at their morning reception. Her hair was dressed high with plenty of curls and topped with white ostrich plumes and she looked like a royal personage.

Louise Catherine Johnson Adams, wife of the sixth president John Quincy Adams, one of the most accomplished first ladies kept several hundred silk worms and cared for them. She read Plato from the original Greek and was a fine musician.

Mrs. Adams wore on occasion a clinging low cut gown with short puffed sleeves and dainty slippers of colored silk ornamented with tiny rosebuds over matching silk hose. Her hair was also piled high and ornamented with plumes.

Mrs. Adams was the last one of the Ladies of the Revolution. It was while she was First Lady that Lafayette was a guest for several weeks at the executive mansion.

BIRTHDAY PARADE

MARCHERS AND PARTY

By Dorris Walsh Hendrickson

Today we'll see the last July Marcher and the first August Marchers, then we'll hear about David's party. But look, here come our marchers!

Wanda Louise Crow, Murrayville, age 11, July 28 (right today!)

David's Party

Refreshments of ice cream, cake, and Kool-Aid were served by Mrs. Proffer, assisted by her sister-in-law, Mrs. Kenneth Jackson, to the following children: John Pulling, Tommy and Jill Proffer, Donna and Pat Jackson, Ann Pruitt, Neal Smock, Gloria Hicks and David Proffer.

Want To Join Marchers?

If you want to join the Birthday Parade just send in your name, address, age and birthdate two or more weeks before your birthday. (Send it just as early as you wish, and we will save it until the Sunday nearest before your birthday.)

If you have a party, you may write and tell us about that later.

Send a photo of yourself if you have one. You may call for it after it has been printed.

The Atlas Rocket

John Christison, age 9, Roodhouse, drew this picture which he calls "The Atlas Rocket." He has certainly made it look as if that rocket is zooming right up into the sky, hasn't he?

John may now come in any time for his Junior Journalist pencil and Junior Press Card which all boys and girls earn when they have a drawing or something they have written printed in the Junior Journal-Courier.

KUHLII LOACH

By Ray Broekel

This strange little bottom feeder goes by the scientific name of Acanthophtalmus semicinctus. This name is longer than the fish itself!

A number of common names have been given to this fish which originally comes from the Malay Peninsula. It reaches a length of 2½ to 3 inches.

Likes The Dark

It prefers darkness, so is most active when the aquarium light is turned off. When the light is on it will usually stay in one place.

It has a rather comical looking face, since its front barbels look very much like a bushy mustache.

Wishing On A Star

By Dorris Walsh Hendrickson

Part 1: Jerry Gets Wish

Jerry was spending the summer vacation on the farm with his grandparents as he always had. And this summer was just like every other summer. Or it was until day before yesterday.

Since then he had had a wish-I-could bug biting him. It was all because of the County Fair handbill.

FIRST PRIZE—
ZEPHYR RADIO

Jerry read it for at least the ninety-seventh time.

"I could sure use a little radio all my own," he thought, "but there's not a horse on the farm since Blaze slipped on that icy spot in the pasture last winter, and died of exposure. Poor Blaze, I do miss that horse. And I'll bet he'd have been a good racer, too."

As Jerry sat there wish-thinking, a voice said, "If wishes were horses, all beggars would ride." Jerry looked up and saw his grandfather winking at him.

Mr. Jensen laid his big hand on the boy's shoulder. "Better just keep busy at something you can do, Jerry, like getting that calf I gave you ready to show. Then there won't be time to moon over something you can't do."

"O. K., Grand-ad," agreed Jerry, but he kept on thinking about the horserace even while he curried Brownie the calf.

Wishes On Pie

That evening at supper, Jerry made a wish for a horse on the point of his pie, and though he was pretty full, he said "Yes, Ma'm," when his grandmother asked if he wanted a second piece, because then he could make his wish a second time.

"Well, I'm glad that thinking about that race hasn't taken your appetite," his grandmother said as she put the pie on his plate.

After supper Jerry went out into the yard to wish on a star. He kept his eyes on the ground until he reached the middle of the yard, to be sure that the first star he saw would really be a lucky one.

Surely it was a good sign that when he raised his head the star that caught his eye was one in the constellation named for Pegasus, the flying horse.

First star I've seen tonight
Wish I may, wish I might Get this wish I make tonight."

There was a sudden shimmer in the sky. "Some stars must have fallen," thought Jerry.

Is It Pegasus?

A soft neigh came from the nearby woodlot. When Jerry looked in the direction of the sound, he saw a horse misty-white in the moonlight. There was a shimmer of light on each side of the animal as if it had wings.

"Pegasus," said Jerry softly, "can it be Pegasus?"

Sugar Bowl To Fish

By Mrs. Otto Dorr

Part 4: Carlina, A Bride

In the house rooms back of the store, the sewing machine had no time to talk, the scissors and thread were gone from the work basket into Carlina's deep apron pocket. At the store counter she measured yards and yards of heavy embroidery and the best muslin to be gathered with her small even stitches, when trade was intermittent.

At night, when the scissors, the sewing machine and workbasket all sat together they pieced out the puzzling secret. Carlina was going to be married! The wedding would be in the winter time but she was getting ready now!

"I saw her father unwrap a bolt of lovely white flannel" the scissors said.

"Yes, and he gave her some silk thread and special needles," the work basket added. "What is she going to make next?"

The new needles opened their eyes wide and answered. "We know, the prettiest white flannel petticoat you ever saw, all embroidered in silk!"

"She is working the deep scallops now," the silk thread continued, "You have to be very careful for silk thread tangles easily."

"I have stitched yards and yards of her ruffled embroidery and breadths of muslin into three other petticoats" the sewing machine commented, "Which one will she wear first, I wonder."

"You don't get about much" the scissors interrupted, a little sharply, "She is going to wear them all at once, it will be cold next winter."

Then they all went to sleep to be ready for the next surprise. What would her wedding dress be?

The next day Carlina's father unfolded a new bolt of something, folds and folds of white satin to be tucked and puffed and shirred into the prettiest dress Carlina could make.

At last, it too was all ready, then came a surprise for Carlina's mother and father, her sister and brothers, the sewing machine, thread, scissors, needles and work basket!

Could Carlina be married in August and move to a distant city where her bridegroom would have a better position? How that family hurried to invite all the relatives and friends, the boys helped clean house, the wedding dinner was planned and every thing made ready.

But It's Summer!

"I am going to wear every one on my wedding day," she determined. So her soft flannel scalloped skirt touched her pretty white slippers, her three muslin ruffle edged petticoats went on top spreading out like white clouds, last of all her shining satin dress, all lined with stiff white cambric swung in billows at her feet.

She was never to think of that dress without joy, even though her wedding day was the sultriest and longest she had ever known.

She was never in all her life so hot again, but she rode away with Prince Charming a happy bride.

MAN LANDS ON THE MOON

By Walter B. Hendrickson Jr.

After the successful flight around the moon, work on an expedition to land on the moon will begin.

First, several automatically guided rockets will be sent off to land on the moon to make preliminary studies of surface conditions and to help develop landing techniques.

They will land on the visible side of the moon to make communication easier. With the knowledge gained by the flights of the robot ships, construction of manned space ships to land on the moon will begin.

Three space ships will be built. Two will be passenger rockets, and the third will be a cargo rocket.

The two passenger rockets will resemble the round-the-moon ship except that they will be larger and will have more rocket motors. They will be equipped with landing supports and two extra pairs of propellant tanks to carry the fuel for the moon landing.

One-Way Trip

The cargo ship will be equipped for a one-way trip to the moon and will carry the equipment for the exploration. The expedition will blast off for the moon when the moon is in the first quarter phase so that when it arrives this satellite will be at the full phase.

When the expedition reaches the point at which the moon's gravity and earth's gravity are equal they will turn around so that they can use their rockets to cushion their landing on the moon.

The expedition will land in Sinus Roris, or Deye Bay. Dewey Bay got its name when this dark plain of the moon was thought to be a body of water.

No Water On Moon

We now know that there is no water on the moon though there may be some ice in a crevasse or somewhere that would always be in shadow. The temperature on the surface of the moon rises above the boiling point of water in the sunlight, and the gravity of this satellite is too slight to hold air or water vapor onto its surface.

After the ships have landed, the cargo ship will be unloaded and the cylindrical hold of the cargo ship will be divided into two half cylinders to form living quarters. They will be similar to quonset huts except that they will have more rounded ends.

Sun Power

These living quarters will be put in a crevasse to protect them from meteors. A solar mirror would be set up near the crevasse to provide power for the living quarters.

The fifty man expedition will explore the area within a fifty mile radius around the base. To aid them in their explorations, they will have three tractors with pressurized cabins. Each tractor will have three trailers.

After two weeks of exploring, the members of the expedition will board the two passenger ships and return to the orbit of the space station. If necessary, one of the passenger ships could carry the whole expedition.

Flights from the polar orbit to the moon or vice versa can only be made when they would be on the moon at the new or full stage of the moon.

Fury, The Stallion

With this drawing came a note which says, "My name is Kay Blackburn and I live in Winchester. This is Fury, the horse. I watch it on TV.

"I like Fury, the stallion, do you?" I'm sure many of you also watch and like Fury, and I'm sure you like Kay's drawing too.

John Phillip Sousa

By Walter B. Hendrickson

Every time the band goes marching down the street, or parades around the football field, and sounds off with "The Washington Post March," or "Stars and Stripes Forever," we are reminded of John Phillip Sousa, a great American composer of band music and a leader of bands.

Probably every summer band concert at Nichols Park will include one of the more than a hundred marches he wrote.

John Phillip Sousa was born in Washington D. C. in 1854. His father was a musician and when John Phillip showed an interest in music at the age of six, he went to music school. Here he studied violin, but soon became fascinated with the wind instruments used in the band, and learned to play all of them.

When he was thirteen years old, he enlisted in the United States Marine Band and played with them for five years, leaving to go to Philadelphia to study music composing. When he was twenty-six years old, he returned to Washington and became the conductor of the Marine Band, and during the twenty years he held this post, he made the band into a great musical organization. He toned down the blare of the brass, so that the band could play any of the symphonic music.

Writes Marine March

But Souza made the Marine Band a fine marching band too, composing for it some of his greatest marches, including what is still the official Marine Corps march "Semper Fidelis."

In 1892, Souza resigned from the Marine Corps, organized his own band and toured all over the world, giving millions of people the pleasure of hearing fine and stirring music. He served his country in two wars, being the director of an army band in the Spanish-American War, and, in the First World War, he was in charge of all the Navy bands.

Chapter 2: Exploring Mars

Synopsis—The wind storm which has prevented exploration of Mars, has died down. Two parties are getting ready to step out of the ship.

"Joe," said Dr. Wharton, "you take your party straight North. We'll go due South. And remember, all of you, the primary purpose of this first trip on Mars is to establish safety retreats for us.

Oxygen suits were busily checked and stepped into. Two lug trucks were loaded down with alumisteel hut kits and spools of guide wire. Even though these trucks had to be either pushed or pulled by hand, the load on them wasn't as bad as it sounded, for Mars' gravity was only 2/5 that of the earth.

Roy, Dr. Wharton and Carl Allston stepped out on the surface of Mars. Stretching around them for quite a distance was a desert-like area. Yellowish-white grains of sand were piled in ripples and dunes, results of the recent wind storm.

The sun was almost directly overhead, and light reflecting from the sand made it comfortable enough that the explorers didn't have to turn on heat controls in their suits. The temperature gauge outside the ship had recorded a pleasant 64 degrees.

Carl Allston carried the pre-set compass, and Roy pushed the lug truck as they started out. Travelling was slow as sand is not the easiest material to travel over.

They had progressed two miles, and had installed four alumisteel huts connected by guide wires before they decided to take a rest stop. The three in the party huddled inside the last small hut they had erected.

Although they couldn't move around much, at least they could take off their oxygen suit helmets after the oxygenerator had been turned on.

Weighs Less

"Whew," exclaimed Carl. "Even though I weigh a lot less here than I did on earth, that walking through sand is no easy job."

"And it looks like that's what we'll be walking through for a long time too," countered Roy, as he began polishing the dust off his helmet view plate.

"I'm afraid you're right, Roy," said Dr. Wharton, who was leaning against the side of the hut. "According to our calculations we should hit a canal within the next few miles. I hope we can reach it before we have to head back for the day."

"There we should possibly find some of the answers about Mars that we're looking for," replied Roy. "Either they were made by living things, or they were just perfect construction jobs by nature."

Time To Move On

He handed Carl his polishing cloth and began adjusting his helmet. "But we're not getting any closer by sitting here, even if the rest is well worth it."

"You're right," Dr. Wharton grunted as he got up into a crouch. "These huts are handy things to have around, but they aren't the most comfortable homes in the world."

Carl laughed as he said, "Imagine what it would be like if we had a football team in here with us."

MacMurray Men's Dorm Ahead Of Schedule

Hugh Gibson, left, general contractor, checks part of the front entrance stairway to Blackstock House with Lee Roy Fairchild, iron foreman, Wednesday at the new men's dormitory on Hardin and East Chambers. It will house 100 men attending the first year of MacMurray College for Men, opening in September. In the background, climbing scaffolding, is Loyce Olroyd, and on ground at right is Dave Watson. Both are from Jacksonville and are among 35 masons, laborers, plasterers, carpenters, latherers, steelworkers, electricians, and plumbers working on the dormitory. In back of scaffolding are the white window frames, into which glass was installed beginning Thursday.

The three-story dormitory, built in contemporary architecture, is "three to four weeks ahead of schedule," Harry Crabtree, construction superintendent, commented. "It is expected that rooms will be ready for occupancy by the beginning of college, if things run along as smoothly as they have the past month."

The superstructure for the $500,000 dormitory was completed by the middle of July. Plastering, beginning on the third floor, started Wednesday, with eight plasterers doing the job. When this dries, in about two weeks, millwork will start. This is the trimming of woodwork, including doors, cabinets, etc. After this, painting will start—probably by the last of August—and the asphalt tile will be set by Sept. 1. The B. & M. Floor Covering Company of Jacksonville is sub-contracting to the Gibson company in furnishing the asphalt tile, while Earl Biggs is furnishing the paint. Bricks and lumber have been purchased by Gibson at local lumber yards.

"Work on the dormitory will not be finally completed until about Oct. 1," Crabtree said, adding, however, that students' rooms and lounges will be completed. Basement recreation rooms will probably be completed in the latter part of September, he said, with this including painting, installing asphalt tile, and basement woodwork.

ONLY ONE NIGHT A WEEK!

Yes, Mother. Your family hears: "If only once a week I didn't have to plan a meal, cook, clean up!—oh, to get out!"

You sigh, and then, being you, you tote up the check—and sigh again, "Is it worth it?"

Well, that's for you and Dad to decide—and maybe Dad hasn't given it much thought. You know the kids vote yes!

But you don't crave an expensive place. You want a friendly atmosphere, clean, cheerful service, a choice of dishes that are different from everyday home fare. You want good food, nicely put before you, and a relaxed satisfaction. The check? Dad will be pleased—especially when it meant a night out for you.

How To Make A Summer Salad

Janice Kuster, 13, was named the best foods demonstrator at 4-H Achievement Day held at Lincoln school Thursday afternoon. She showed how to make a summer fruit salad and will represent Morgan county at the demonstrations contest to be held at the Illinois State Fair.

Bonnie Shook, also 13, right, was named alternate. In her demonstration she showed how to make pecan rolls.

Janice is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Kuster, 402 Lake street, and she belongs to the South Side Merry Maids.

Bonnie is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Shook, 215 Webster, and is a member of the Lucky Clovers.

Eleven girls from all sections of the county competed in the contest. Carolyn Williamson, 13, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Williamson, was chosen to attend foods preparation classes at the state fair.

All three girls will enter exhibits in the Morgan County Junior Fair.

HOLD REGULAR STATED MEETING OF WILBER CHAPTER

Forty five members and guests enjoyed the regular stated meeting of Wilber Chapter O E S, held Thursday, July 25, in the Masonic Temple.

During the business session Lillian Heidinger gave a most colorful and interesting description of the Grand Assembly for Rainbow which was held recently in Chicago, in which daughters of several members participated.

The worthy matron, Edith Landreth, announced that the "Bricks for Macon," a contribution for the Home for the aged Masonic Members, had been completed, and sent to the Grand Chapter.

A social hour was enjoyed in the dining room, where chicken salad sandwiches, potato chips, pickles and iced tea were served from a table decorated with garden flowers.

The refreshment committee consisted of Virginia and Joe Denham, chairmen, Della Jackson, Mildred and Jim Arnett. It was announced that initiation will be held Thursday, Aug. 8, at 7:30 p.m.

ONE-NOTE DRUMS

A kettledrum gives only one note at a time. Since it takes time to alter all the screws, two or three kettledrums, each tuned to a different note, are used in an orchestra or band, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

CONSTANT SWIMMERS

Atlantic mackerel swim 24 hours a day, never pausing to rest. They require a constant strong flow of water over their gills to supply sufficient oxygen to their blood and keep from smothering.

LENGTHY ECLIPSE

Theoretically, it is possible for the sun to be hidden for as long as seven minutes 40 seconds in a total eclipse. It must occur when the sun is farthest from the earth and when the moon is closest to the earth.

Here's what your new driver's license will look like when you take it out of your mail box. The license itself is only the area in the lower left outlined by the dotted line. The rest is a post-card-type mailer which eliminates the necessity for an envelope.

The new type license is virtually impossible to counterfeit, Secretary of State Charles F. Carpentier said. The form is printed in two colors from engraved plates, there is a validity check code which enables detection of any false reproduction and the new permanent driver number cannot be computed manually without the code key.

The reverse side of the area of the card not occupied by the license carries a convenient form for notifying the Secretary of State's office of any change of name or address, as required by law, Mr. Crapentier said.

Secretary Carpentier also reminded drivers that the license fee is now $3 for a three-year license and that in making out the application, the individual should show his full first, middle and last name. This complete information is needed to compute the permanent license number, Mr. Carpentier said.

cars ARE MY Line

by: E. W. Brown

Of all the fears that beset the car driver, I think the worst is the fear of turning over.

The fear of the blowout, which used to be a terrible anxiety, has largely been removed for those drivers wise enough to buy the several kinds of safety tires.

But turning over (the possibility that the roof will cave in or that you'll be flung out through the door) is a fear that is hard to dissipate.

They deliberately rolled over a number of cars and they found that in every case a door that was locked stayed locked — and closed — no matter how violently the car was uprooted.

So, although I don't agree exactly that people should "drive scared," it appears like a good idea to keep your car doors locked from the inside at all times.

Speaking of doors, they're a point you should give particular attention to when looking over a used car. See if the door hangs straight and whether, when the window is open slightly, it closes firmly. A twisted body can be doctored up pretty easily with paint, but it's hard to fool those doors.

The salesmen thought I was eccentric the other day — I ran around our used car lot opening and closing doors. I just wanted to make sure.

XI

THE bell rang up at the front of the barn. Owen nodded at me and I turned and looked through the barn. Dora Peterson was up there.

"Dora Peterson," I said.

Owen got up, grunting, and waddled into the barn. I stood and leaned against the door jamb, watching Dora move against the sun. She was the daughter of Jordan Peterson, 16 years old her last birthday. Her hair was the soft yellow of straw and she was skinny compared to a woman like Lillian. But there was a sassiness about her that I liked, even when it made me mad, and I could see how if she was handled right she would turn into a lot of woman. I wished I was somebody else so I could be the one to handle her. I was pretty sure I could. It was when I thought about girls, especially Dora, that I thought about leaving Blue Springs. The other things folks did to me I could stand because I could fight back. I didn't know any way to fight back when the girls wouldn't pay me any mind. Anything I did only made it worse. Like what happened with Dora that afternoon a year ago. Owen didn't let me wait on Dora on account of that afternoon.

A couple of times a week during the good weather, Dora came to the livery and rented a horse for a ride out on the prairie. She always asked for a lively bay that was Owen's best horse. Owen worried about giving him to her but she handled him all right. Dora used to talk to me some when she came for the bay. All she would say was something about hauling up on a stirrup or how long she'd be out with the bay. But she always acted like she mustn't get too close. She looked at me but I never felt that she saw me. I was just somebody around to help when she wanted to ride. Most of the time I'd fix it so I was the one who helped Dora up into the sidesaddle. I'd saddle the bay in the barn and lead him out front by the water tank. Ladies didn't come into the barn like the men, because of the smell, I suppose, and Dora sure thought she was a lady.

* * *

THE day it happened Dora was especially sassy to me and it was hot and Owen made me do some hard work in the loft that wasn't necessary at all. Maybe that didn't have anything to do with it but maybe it did. Getting on the horse, Dora put her foot in my hands like always and put her hand on my shoulder, then took the reins from me with her other hand. When she was ready, I gave her a boost.

I think the cinch was a little loose. I think the saddle slipped a little just as she hit. I think I boosted too hard. Something sure happened because the next thing I knew, Dora's foot was gone from my hand and there was a long trailing scream and a splash and the most awful sputtering you ever heard. Dora had gone clean over the horse and landed smack in the water tank.

I just stood there with my mouth hanging open like a hay door. Most of Dora, with her pretty yellow dress and the bonnet with the sunflowers on it, was under that green, warm, stale water. The end of her sassy nose dripped water and so did the drooping flowers on her hat. Her hair looked like wet straw. And she was mad.

At first, I couldn't move. When I unstiffened, I wanted to cut and run. Then I came loose and reached for an arm to help her out. She swore at me. It was a sharp, stuttering kind of swearing, like she couldn't say enough, fast enough. She blistered me. All I could think about was where she'd learned it.

She crawled out of the tank. She was about to say more along the same lines when somebody busted out laughing over on the hotel porch. Dora's eyes turned to points and she snapped around and went stomping off down Depot Street, laying a neat trail of water in the dust.

Dora's Pa came over before long and told me a few things, going over some ground his daughter covered pretty good. Then he told Owen a few. Then, after Peterson left, Owen told me a few. I think if he'd been paying me a dollar a week more or I'd been a shade less of a worker, he'd have sent me packing.

What happened was that I held onto my job, only when Dora Peterson came for the bay, I wasn't to go near her.

* * *

SO when Dora came, Owen waited on her, like he was doing now. I figured Owen had her loaded onto the horse. When I got to the front door, she'd just pulled into Chicago Street. I watched her as long as she was in sight, riding south, a pretty sight on the long-legged bay.

I looked over to the Prairie Haven. Blanchard was sitting in the shade on the porch. I lifted my hand. Blanchard saw it and did the same. He got out of the chair and came down off the porch. I figured he wanted to see me so I started out into the street. He met me halfway.

He said, "Meeting tonight, Pike. To hire a new marshal."

"Nobody in town would take that job. Maybe McNabb wants it back."

"Maybe. One of us should be there. Don't know that they'd let me in."

WIN LAS VEGAS TRIP

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Samples relax at the Flamingo Hotel in Las Vegas, Nev., as guests of American Motors Corporation. Mr. Samples won the trip in a nationwide contest. He is co-owner of the Brummett Motor Company in Jacksonville.

Little Eller Long

in show business because of her height — 6'5". Being very self conscious as a high school girl, her mother put her in dancing school, hoping to bring her out of her complex. This was in Detroit, Mich., where she was born and raised.

Luckily (so she says) the instructor saw a possible sense of humor in this gal so instead of trying to teach her to be graceful (as was the original idea) he did all he could to teach her to be just the opposite. And of course, she'll always tell you that for her it's easy.

She has appeared with the WLS National Barn Dance, Renfro Valley, Ky., and Olsen and Johnson's "Son's O' Fun," but for the past five years she has been with Pee Wee King. His show will play matinee and evening engagements at the Morgan County Fairgrounds next Sunday.

WORST FLOOD

Worst flood in recorded history is considered to be the flood of 1228 in Holland, when 100,000 persons reputedly were drowned in the Friesland section.

The existence of languages can be dated back a million years or more, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

UNEXPECTED JOB

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Dick Foy, second cook on the English freighter Manchester Vanguard, stepped ashore here for a brief leave and found himself caught up in the swirl of commercial music.

Foy, 21, who plays the guitar and sings, stopped at a pub and soon was entertaining the customers. One of the patrons thought he had something extra and took him to booking agent Tony Murmek who agreed.

After stops at a barber and haberdasher, Dick found himself at a recording studio where he cut half a dozen records.

"Only in America could this happen," said the excited Foy as he returned to his ship to wait and see what will happen.

OWNERS SALE OF REAL ESTATE

ON SATURDAY, AUGUST 17

AT 2:00 P. M. (DST)

161 acres, more or less, located on good all weather road, about 6½ miles northwest of Winchester, Illinois, and 1 mile east of Exeter, Illinois, and more particularly described as follows:

TRACT I
The East Half (E½ of the West Half (W½) of the Southeast Quarter (SE¼); also, the West One-fifth (1/5), or 16 acres, more or less, off the West side of the East Half (E½) of the Southeast Quarter (SE¼), all in Section Thirty (30) in Township Fifteen (15) North Range Twelve (12), West of the Third Principal Meridian in Scott County, Illinois, and containing 56 acres, more or less;

This tract is practically all tillable and has now about 24 acres of growing corn thereon. The purchaser is to receive the landlord's share of ½. Balance of Tract I in alfalfa and red clover; well fenced.

TRACT II
The West Half (W½) of the Northeast Quarter (NE¼); also 25 acres, more or less, off the West side of 55 acres off the South end of the East Half (E½) of the Northeast Quarter (NE¼); all in Section Thirty (30), Township Fifteen (15), North Range Twelve (12), West of the Third Principal Meridian in Scott County, Illinois, and containing 105 acres, more or less.

This tract is improved with a 7 room frame house in good condition; electricity; gas heat; hot water heater; stool; most of downstairs has hardwood floors; 5 stock wells; including one deep well; 2 cisterns; one excellent pond; wagon scales; barn, double corn crib, granary, hog shed, garage, all in good condition; also other building. Well fenced. This tract has now about 27 acres of growing beans, of which purchaser will take the landlord's share of ½; remaining tillable land in Tract II has a good stand of clover and alfalfa; balance of Tract II in pasture.

It is intended to describe above and sell all the lands owned by said Clyde Funk and Eva H. Funk, located in Section 30, Township 15, North Range 12, West of the Third Principal Meridian in Scott County, Illinois, whether same are correctly described above or not.

TERMS OF SALE

Tract I will be first offered for sale; Tract II will next be offered for sale; lands will then be offered as a whole and sold in the manner that will bring the most money.

20% payable to owners at time of sale; balance upon approval of abstract of title and delivery of warranty deed by owners, but subject to taxes for the year 1957 due in 1958, the rights of tenants in possession and all easements thereon, whether of record or not; abstract furnished to date of delivery of deed; purchaser to have 10 days to examine abstract.

Possession on delivery of deed of all lands except that part now in corn and beans; possession of the lands in corn and beans is subject to rights of present tenants.

Purchaser will pay taxes levied against said premises in the year 1957 and due in 1958.

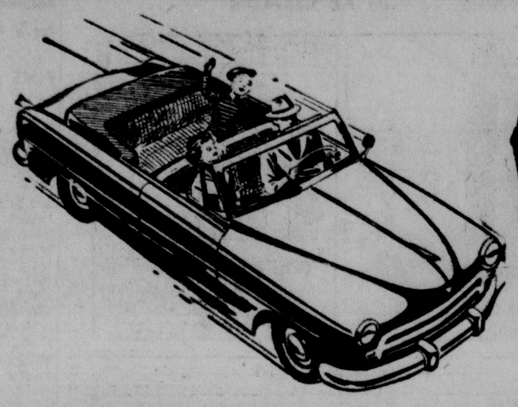

This farm has been in the Funk family for more than 50 years and was the home of the owners for 46 years. For additional information see any of the parties named below.
